What defeated Mrs. Lois Haggan's bill to amend the Fireworks Act on Thursday wasn't logic but a male mystique of which the little red Chinese cracker with its spark-spitting pigtail is part.

From the moment the Grand Forks-Greenwood NDP rose to propose the measure innocuously titled 'Bill No. 19', it was plain her anti-gunpowder plot was doomed.

Mr. Strachan (murmuring as Mrs. Haggan rises): "Ah! The grandmother protecting her grandchildren..."

Mrs. Haggan: "Mr. Speaker, would you please request the leader of the Opposition to be quiet for a moment?"

"Fireworks are dangerous playthings in the hands of children, persons of immature mind and irresponsible adults. Children setting off fireworks are a danger to themselves, to others, and to property."

"Two years ago, when I introduced a bill against indiscriminate use of fireworks, the attorney-general said he couldn't go home and face his children if firecrackers were taken away from them. I was so filled with anguish at his plight that my fuse went out."

"I love my grandchildren too, but I think I could talk over with them and explain the loss of fireworks, those so-called playthings."

Immediate support came from NDP Arthur Turner, Vancouver East, convinced by a bomb dropped through the family letter slot last Halloween. Mr. Turner reminded legislators of what almost happened to another Parliament "when an estimable gentleman in 17th century England planned to use fireworks on a grand scale."

Bert Price, S.C.—Vancouver-Burrard, agreed. But after him came a veritable landslide of dissent.

Anthony Gargrave, NDP, Mackenzie: "I'm very fond of fireworks, myself. I think the bill is unduly restrictive."

Mr. Strachan: "I think most people know I'm opposed to any verbal fireworks, but the sort mentioned in this bill, I'm not opposed to."

Mr. Strachan then dwelt lovingly on Nanaimo's Nov. 5 "Bonfire Night"—Canada's only Guy Fawkes Day celebration—and pointed out what a fireworks ban would do to this traditional cracker spree.

Irvine Corbett, S.C., Yale: "I'm a little tired of regulations and permits to do this or that."

"I want to preserve the right to buy a few fireworks for my kids, and go out and help shoot 'em!"

Herbert Bruch, S.C., Esquimalt: "This and some other problems will be solved when parents get up enough gumption to handle their children."

Attorney-General Bonner: "A regulatory piece of legislation senseless in its impact. I feel children should be instructed early to handle dangerous things, since they are growing up in a dangerous world."

Mrs. Haggan (stubborn in defeat): "I repeat, my bill would permit public displays. It would also serve the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition on a day which is dear to his heart."

Then the vote. Mrs. Haggan tugs her unconvincing NDP neighbor Alex MacDonald to his feet in support. William Speare, S.C., Cariboo, rises to Opposition. "The government's crumbling."

But Bill 19 is lost. Guy Fawkes has triumphed, and unless local restrictions interfere, Halloween will still smell of villainous salt-peter.

Vote for Liberals Lesage Tells Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage Thursday called on Quebecers to vote Liberal in the federal election April 8, saying the party is the only one capable of giving Canada a stable government.

It was the first time he has given this advice and it followed reports he is considering taking part in the election campaign.

Mr. Lesage, whose brief statement in the legislature was interspersed with applause from Liberal benches in the assembly, also hinted he won't be going back into federal politics in the near future and expressed warm support for Liberal Leader Lester Pearson.

Finally, he took what was interpreted as a veiled poke at the Social Credit party, referring to "impossible" promises being made by "certain groups."

Mr. Lesage, who is believed to have been under heavy pressure from the federal party to give it public support, was prompted into his statement by Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson.

Mr. Johnson referred to a speech in which Yvon Dupuis, a Liberal candidate and former

Dief Wrong On Columbia

CALGARY (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statements on the Columbia River treaty have been "full of wrong information from beginning to end," Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said today.

Gen. McNaughton, former chairman of the International Joint Commission, said he is confident the treaty will be rejected at the next sitting of the Commons.

Interviewed at the airport, he said Mr. Diefenbaker's political prestige rides on the implications of the treaty for Canada. The treaty is a "sell-out" and should be rejected, said Gen. McNaughton.

"Diefenbaker's statements were full of wrong information from beginning to end. He can't afford to get up and confess his faults."

Changing Work Estimates Said 'A Little Unusual'

By FRANK RUTTER and AB KENT

A highways department engineer today said it was "a little unusual" to change figures on a project estimate after it had been submitted to Victoria, but he would have approved the changes if asked.

Eric H. Barclay was telling the legislature's public accounts committee about controversial Project 819, subject of allegations of graft in the highways department.

He was the government's resident engineer on the job, a section of Trans-Canada Highway near Revelstoke.

Mr. Barclay admitted burning the project records two years ago after a visit from Montana contractor Dick Holzworth, but he kept a copy of the disputed estimate sheet.

He told Opposition Leader Robert Strachan the reason was his own business, then added that he "just happened" to keep it.

MONEY PAID

Mr. Holzworth, whose company did the later stages of the job, has charged the estimates of work done were changed, and money was paid for work never done.

The estimates were changed by a senior department of highways official in Victoria. They were not signed, as usual, by Mr. Barclay.

However, Mr. Barclay said today he agreed with the changed figures and would have signed the estimate if anyone had asked him to.

Answering questions by Liberal leader Ray Perrault, Mr. Barclay said:

"The estimates were prepared by Mr. Barclay monthly, and Liberal leader Ray Perrault asked if the changes couldn't have waited a month."

NEW BERLIN TALKS OPEN ON TUESDAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia and the United States will open a new round of exploratory talks on Berlin here Tuesday, the state department disclosed today.

Participating in that meeting will be State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

The Soviet government initially suggested the new talks. The last series broke down in October just before the Cuban crisis developed.

Split Remains At Arms Talks

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference agreed today to devote one meeting a week to a debate on measures to reduce the risk of war, but the United States and Russia remained sharply divided on which of these measures would be discussed.

The decision partially resolved a procedural deadlock which has prevented the conference from taking up various proposals for reducing world tensions prior to a general disarmament treaty.

The deadlock arose mainly from a Western refusal to discuss a Soviet proposal for a non-aggression pact between the North Atlantic Alliance and the Soviet bloc's Warsaw pact.

U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stelle and Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, co-chairmen of the conference met for nearly three hours Thursday night in an effort to settle the procedural argument.

They reported to the conference session that they had reached no agreement on what items could be discussed and in what order. But they decided that the so-called collateral measures would be discussed every Friday.

FAVORITES

Mount Newton High School has been the most frequently hit, the last time three weeks ago when cash and a number of tools were taken. Milnes Landing High School is another favorite scene of burglaries.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer of the city police said former pupils at the schools concerned usually are responsible.

"They may have had some difficulty at school and may have been kicked out. But when they get out they feel the school is fair game," he said.

OVER ESTIMATE

Mr. Barclay said that when the project was finished it turned out that the contractor had moved 57,000 more yards of rock than the original project estimate called for.

He agreed with one of Mr. Holzworth's charges; that L and M "guttered" the job, skimming off the easiest work, before the project was taken over by Union Contractors under Mr. Holzworth.

Damage Up As Vandals Hit Schools

Four schools in the Greater Victoria area were broken into overnight, the latest in a wave of break-ins since late in 1962 which has exasperated police and school board officials.

Vandals Thursday night struck at Mount Douglas, Claremont, Royal Oak and North Saanich high schools.

Although they got away with little, they added to the list of damage to schools which has mounted into the thousands of dollars.

At North Saanich, several drawers and cupboards were jammed by the culprits, who entered through the staff entrance.

At Claremont, entrance was gained through a ground-floor class room window which was smashed.

Glass in a door at Mount Douglas was broken to admit the thieves.

In all three cases the building was ransacked and papers strewn about when the culprits searched for money.

Only at Mount Douglas was anything reported missing, a "very small amount of cash."

Authorities at Royal Oak Junior-Senior High School refused to disclose if anything was missing or how entrance was gained.

NO MONEY

Charles C. Hackett, of the Greater Victoria School District's building and grounds department, said it was unfortunate the thieves didn't realize that no money was kept in schools.

Only in pay telephones could any cash be found, he said, and not all schools have these.

Spokesmen for the Sooke and Rural Saanich school boards said since last month they have made in policy not to keep money in school buildings overnight.

"This ruling," they said, "was prompted by the increasing number of school break-ins since the beginning of the year."

Mount Newton High School has reported two break-ins, Claremont High four, North Saanich two and Royal Oak one, since January 1.

FAVORITES

Mount Newton High School has been the most frequently hit, the last time three weeks ago when cash and a number of tools were taken. Milnes Landing High School is another favorite scene of burglaries.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer of the city police said former pupils at the schools concerned usually are responsible.

"They may have had some difficulty at school and may have been kicked out. But when they get out they feel the school is fair game," he said.

He said the usual pattern followed was "vindictive" vandalism. However, the most recent break-ins have been distinguished by pay telephone robberies.

"Another factor is that these places are for the most part isolated," the deputy chief said.

"We can patrol them, sure, but we haven't enough men to watch every school as closely as we would like."

Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, said the latest break-ins have decided her to bring the matter up for "serious consideration" by the board.

"We will certainly have to discuss this," she said.

WEEKEND MEETING

The problem will be brought up at a meeting this weekend in Parksville of the Vancouver Island Branch of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, she added.

"We have considered using commissionaires or janitors before," Mrs. Thompson said, "but we felt the cost would be too great."

"But I don't think the cost of regular patrols would be as great as the damage which is being done to our schools," she added.

NUCLEAR CLUB GROWTH FEARED BY KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says he is "haunted by the feeling" that unless a nuclear test ban treaty is signed the number of countries with nuclear weapons may rise to 15 or 20 by 1975, enlarging the danger of human contamination from testing and death through nuclear war.

He also said Russia has removed 3,000 troops from Cuba "in these past weeks" and he hopes more will be removed by the end of March. Under Kennedy's estimate the Soviet force in Cuba may have dropped to about 14,500.

Kennedy returned in a jubilant mood from his three-day conference with six Central American presidents at San Juan, Costa Rica.

He said he was increasingly confident the U.S. would continue to live in a hemisphere of independent, firm and faithful friends. There would be no invasion of Cuba at this time but concerted action would be taken to halt the traffic in Cuban arms and saboteurs among friendly Latin American countries.

Four Rapists Recaptured

DEEP RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Four men who escaped from police custody in a Montreal courthouse Thursday night were recaptured today by Ontario Provincial Police on a highway just west of this Ottawa River town 125 miles northwest of the capital.

A car in which the four were travelling was halted by a roadblock after town police here alerted the provincial police detachment at Rolphton, about 10 miles west of here.

The men had stopped at a Deep River service station to buy gasoline. After the attendant filled the tank, the car suddenly sped off. The gas had not been paid for.

The enraged attendant called town police with a description of the car, which had headed west on Highway 17, an alternate route of the Trans-Canada Highway.

A provincial police cruiser stopped the car and first reports said the four men gave up without a struggle. They were brought to the Deep River police cellblock.

CARS BLOCK ROAD

Two police cars were on the highway between here and Rolphton when the radio call went out to stop the car. Constable Pat Barrow of the Rolphton provincial police and Constable Lindsay White of Deep River blocked the highway with their cars.

Israel Singer, a Montreal taxi driver who was forced to drive the four men out of Montreal, was found in the car. A police report by radio said Singer had been "abused" by the men but was not in serious condition.

The four men have been identified as Emilien Maltais, 22; Camille Michaud, 21; Laurier Deschenes, 21, and his brother Guy, 27.

They were convicted of the rape and torture of a Quebec City housewife last year and were appearing in Montreal court to appeal sentences of 20 to 25 years and six to eight strokes of the lash.

Cuba Stocks Big Arsenal, Say Exiles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Reports of a military buildup in Cuba for revolution in other Latin American countries continued to arrive from the Cuban underground Thursday.

A responsible exile leader said he received reports of "the largest concentration of modern arms since the October Cuban crisis" on Cuba's north shore.

The letter from the underground said "this giant arsenal was transported to Cuba, by four Russian ships that arrived at Bahia Honda Pinar Del Rio province March 12."

COMMITTEE SITTINGS BILL SET

A special bill is being drafted so that the probe of charges of graft in the Provincial highways department may continue after the B.C. Legislature has adjourned.

Attorney General Robert Bonner said Thursday the bill will enable the legislative committee investigating the charges to sit until its work is completed.

The committee was to report its findings to the legislature. Mr. Bonner said provision will be made in the bill for the committee to report elsewhere if the House has adjourned.

It appears likely the provincial secretary will receive the report. The House is expected to adjourn next week.

V. L. Gresty Was Not 'Engineer'

Vincent L. Gresty, referred to in evidence at the public accounts highway probe Thursday, was not a professional engineer with the highways department.

This was made clear at the Thursday night sitting, following a report in Thursday's Times which alluded to him as an engineer.

In fact, chairman Irvine Corbett pointed out, the man in question was formerly a superintendent in mechanics.

The probe heard that he had made money on the side by renting a piece of equipment to a contractor doing a road job.

Drawing attention to the use of the word "engineer" in the Times report, Mr. Corbett said this was a reflection on the engineer's in the department, and was not correct.

In an interview later Mr. Corbett said his statement was a result of representations by engineers of the highways department.

The Times use of the word resulted from a reference to the man at one point as a "mechanical engineer."

Two Promoters Lose Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — Toronto promoters Hugh Paton and D. Hubert Cox were ordered to pay by the Supreme Court of Canada to serve four-year prison terms for defrauding Brandon Packers of Brandon.

The court in a unanimous judgment rejected an appeal by the two men against a majority decision of the Manitoba Appeal Court ruling that they were guilty of conspiracy to defraud the company and of issuing a false prospectus.

The judgment also dismissed an application by the attorney-general of Manitoba that the four-year prison terms be increased to seven years.

Paton and Cox were convicted on five counts of stealing and of defrauding Brandon Packers of $448,000, of conspiring to steal and of conspiring to defraud the company of $460,000, and of issuing a false prospectus for a $400,000 bond issue.

Charges that a contractor was paid $100,000 for work never done are "absolutely false" according to a highways department engineer.

Eric H. Barclay, the resident engineer from Project 819, told the highways graft probe Thursday night that the extra money was for extra work—most of it done in one month of 1967.

The charges were made by Montana contractor, Dick Holzworth, president of Union Contractors, which was working on 819.

They sparked the investigation by the legislature's public accounts committee.

Mr. Barclay said the reason all the extra work was done on 819 in the month of October 1967 was that there was extra machinery on the job, some of it going double shift.

Mr. Holzworth had contended there was not enough equipment on the job to do the extra work. He also said payroll records show it was not possible.

"It is purely supposition," Mr. Barclay told committee counsel Lloyd G. McKenzie.

"He was never on the job."

IN DECEMBER

"I never saw him on the job at any time. I heard the first time he was up was in December."

Asked about Mr. Holzworth's statement that the $100,000, he replied, "I think it's absolutely false."

"A lot of the equipment was running double shift," Mr. Barclay said.

This included a 24-yard shovel which was completely new on the job. It did more than half as much again as the 12-yard shovel on the job the month before.

"This is the main reason for the entire amount of rock and other material taken out in October."

Some extra money also came from a "pickup," this resulted from a "rough" re-measurement of earlier work which established more quantities of material moved than paid for—between 10,000 and 15,000 yards, Mr. Barclay said.

Mr. Barclay said the contracting company—L and M, Union's predecessor—was "a little hard up for money and we wanted to give them everything we possibly could for that month."

Mr. Barclay said contractors always tried to get as much as possible for their work.

Mr. McKenzie also asked about another Holzworth charge, that figures were altered on a project estimate sheet to show that a more expensive type of material had been moved than actually was the case.

Mr. Barclay said that he and the regional engineer had "re-classified" the material. That you can't measure a cut," accounted for the changes. However, it was an accurate estimate just after he had sent the estimate sheet down to Victoria for that month.

"How was it re-classified?" "Oh, we just kind of look at it and say, 'Well, it's not a cut, it's a fill'."

Dief Fails To 'Hold' Big Crowd

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

REGINA—Prime Minister Diefenbaker moved his election campaign back into his home province Thursday. He drew a capacity crowd of about 5,000 to Regina armories but, in show business parlance, he "laid an egg."

Response from the audience was scattered and infrequent during his 70-minute speech. He had been speaking for less than half an hour when people began leaving.

The departure of people continued for the balance of his speech; a period during which an estimated 800 had left.

Several times Mr. Diefenbaker mentioned that the "hour is late" and that he thus couldn't go into the detail he would like. The last time he made mention of the late hour the crowd applauded. He then quickly completed his talk.

Conservative party officials, when asked why the audience was so unresponsive in a city where the prime minister is reputedly unbeatable, said it was simply that the people present had "heard the message before . . . they are all behind him."

Observers recalled, however, that last year when Mr. Diefenbaker had a smaller audience in the same hall, that audience was much more enthusiastic.

Predicts New U.S. Magazine Attack

In his speech, Mr. Diefenbaker delivered his standard campaign address with little change: an attack on the Liberal opposition for "obstructing our program," praise for his government's disposal of wheat for western farmers; a plea for the support of the people for his government's plan for the future.

He suggested he was going to come under attack again "in the next two or three days" by another American magazine. He said this after he had blamed the Liberals for inspiring an article critical of him in Newsweek, another U.S. magazine. He did not identify the latest U.S. magazine he said is against him.

"We welcome this assistance in this campaign," he smiled. "It is wonderful help for us."

For Regina, the capital of a province which gave the Tories 16 of its 17 seats in the 1962 election, the crowd was clearly uninspired by the Diefenbaker oratory.

From the start the meeting appeared to suffer from over-organization. There were two bands, the Regina police boys band and a rube band called the "Dixie land dandies."

Ken More, the Conservative who defeated New Democratic party leader T. C. Douglas in his attempt to enter parliament as Regina MP in the last election, introduced Mr. Diefenbaker as "one of our own."

Greeted by Long Silent Periods

Mr. Diefenbaker at that point got his best applause of the evening. Through the rest of his speech there were long silent periods with a total lack of reaction between outbreaks of scattered applause which came chiefly when he made jokes.

It seemed to be a crowd of the curious, of those wanting to see the man who had been so much in the news because of his splintering cabinet and fallen government.

"This is kind of a return home," Mr. Diefenbaker said in the folksy way he likes to use in Saskatchewan. "This is my province, my home."

He asked for the election of all 17 Tory candidates in Saskatchewan.

"You'll get it," shouted one supporter to a smattering of applause.

Mr. Diefenbaker took pains to attack Hazen Argue, former NDP MP for Assiniboia who switched to the Liberals. Mr. Argue was the man who described government sales of wheat to Red China as a "fraud."

Jumping from subject to subject—and speeding up as he saw people beginning to leave the armories—Mr. Diefenbaker told his audience "by their words ye shall judge them."

'Give Equality'

The Liberals, he said, had told the people of Canada in the last election that prices would go up because of devaluation.

"We are able to come back in this unnecessary election," he added, "and quote the president of the United States to the effect that the cost of living in Canada increased less than in any other country in the western world."

The Liberals had said "let them come and get it" about Canadian wheat, but the Conservatives had sold it.

"In eastern Canada there are powerful interests who say they believe the prime minister does too much for the west," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "We have only tried to give equality to opportunity."

He listed his government's "achievements"—the South Saskatchewan dam to provide "freedom from blight of drought" (you did it John, a supporter yelled); an increase in exports; the roads to resources program and oil policy which, he said, had changed the "lands of perpetual snow and ice" to lands which "now hold the deeds to freedom."

Unrelenting War

Resuming his attack on the Liberals, he said that "instead of assisting in the government of the country, where the opposition can do much, they waged unrelenting warfare

Electricity, Gas Cuts Hit Strike-Weary French

PARIS (AP) — Four-hour gas and electricity cuts today added to the woes of strike-weary Frenchmen. Thousands of Parisians got up an hour or two early to get to work before subways and electric trains were halted from 8 a.m. to noon.

Long lines formed at bus stops. Monster traffic jams developed because of the extra cars in the city and darkened traffic lights. Idle taxis were almost impossible to find. Telephone booths were filled with stranded workers calling the boss to say they would be late. Central heating was interrupted in many buildings on a chill spring day.

New Korea Demonstrations

SEOUL (AP) — The largest anti-government demonstrations in South Korea's 22 months of military rule erupted today in Seoul and two southern cities.

Confronted by his most serious challenge to date, strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park declared anew he will not waiver from his plan to extend military rule for another four years.

About 600 slogan-chanting demonstrators marched the streets of Seoul, demanding that the military junta keep its earlier promise to restore civilian government in August. Police seized scores of marchers.

Park banned political activity March 16 and proposed a referendum on his plan to continue military rule.

The military junta warned in a broadcast that the armed forces stand behind the government. In a show of force, a vehicle convoy of officers travelled from Park's residence to the defence ministry.

The two officers included commanders of army divisions under United Nations operational control.

The demonstration in Seoul brought out many civilian political leaders. For the first time, members of the general public joined in.

Police broke up similar demonstrations in Pusan, the nation's second largest city, on the southern tip of the peninsula, and Kwangju, a provincial capital 150 miles south of Seoul. Arrests were made.

Halifax Crowd Lauds Pearson Tariff Stand

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

HALIFAX, N.S. — Liberal Leader L. B. Pearson told a cheering capacity audience here Thursday night that he would like to see careful review of all high tariff rates with a view to their reduction or removal. He said he was not one of those that believed that tariffs were the answer to Canada's economic problems.

It was a day of triumph for Mr. Pearson, climaxed by a mass rally that jammed the 1,980-seat Capitol Theatre here to its doors. There was an overflow meeting in another hall close by with 100 listening to his speech on television.

He again hit back at the Tories for resorting to personalities.

The enthusiastic crowd jumped to its feet and gave him a standing ovation when he said near the close of his address that he was not "hungry for power" but was asking for the opportunity to serve Canada again. There were isolated hecklers but each time they shouted something they were drowned out by bursts of applause as Mr. Pearson shot back an answer.

Take Long Drive

Earlier Mr. Pearson, in a lengthy motorcade, drove from Greenwood to Kingston Village and to Port Williams. Arrangements had been made on short notice for a buffet luncheon meeting at Port Williams, and seats provided for a crowd of about 300.

When Mr. Pearson arrived at noon the hall was filled to capacity and a long lineup was trying to enter. More than 800 persons heard Mr. Pearson speak in the constituency now represented by Finance Minister George Nowlan.

"This is the first day of spring and a very cheerful day for me and for the Liberal party in the constituency of Digby-Annapolis-Kings," said Mr. Pearson with a broad grin. "It looks like Nova Scotia is going to swing Liberal in this election. This is one of the finest and most enthusiastic meetings we've had in the campaign. It's wonderful when it is realized that only 36 hours ago the decision was made to come here."

After the triumphant motor tour Mr. Pearson returned to Halifax for his night meeting there. Today he flew to Saint John for a luncheon meeting and in the afternoon flew to St. John's, Newfoundland, for an evening rally before returning to Ottawa Saturday.

A small group of hecklers in the Halifax theatre meeting sought to disrupt Mr. Pearson's speech, but he handled them with ease.

Mr. Pearson hammered home his point that a main issue in the campaign is the return to office at Ottawa of a strong, stable Liberal government with a majority in Parliament large enough to enable it to govern effectively. He said the Conservatives had shown that they were too weak, indecisive and divided to govern properly.

Mr. Pearson jabbed back at the Conservatives. He said Prime Minister Diefenbaker was going about the country pleading "Vote for me because everybody is against us."

Said Mr. Pearson: "That kind of manufactured martyrdom is not a good enough basis on which to appeal for support from the Canadian people."

Avoided Issues

He said the prime minister had been dealing in personalities and not discussing the issues in this campaign. He said that the Conservatives were acting in the campaign as if the Liberals were the government and the Tories were behaving as if they were the opposition seeking to discredit the Liberal policies, but putting forward no policies of their own.

Mr. Pearson said the people of Canada had heard from the prime minister examples of "desperation and deception". This applied particularly to Mr. Diefenbaker's statements on the Conservative defence policies.

"Statements being made by the prime minister cannot be substantiated and I'm prepared to document that charge," said Mr. Pearson. Only Thursday, he added, the former defence minister had to take issue with his former leader, the prime minister.

Accepted Missiles

He outlined his policy on defensive nuclear weapons. He said he realized there were honest differences of opinion across the country on this issue. But the present Conservative government had accepted the Bomarc missiles and in order to make them effective as defensive weapons they had to be armed with nuclear warheads.

He said he hoped to see the time come when by international agreement the peoples of the world would be able to do away with all nuclear weapons—indeed do away with all weapons. But until that day arrived the foundation for peace could not exist with one side being armed and the other side not being armed, and that meant that the West had to have nuclear weapons. Canada as a part of the western defensive alliance should carry out its commitments and accept nuclear warheads for the Bomarc.

May Be Too Late

"If an emergency develops such as developed last fall over Cuba, and we are on the edge of the abyss, it will be too late then to go scurrying down to Washington to beg for the ammunition," he said.

Mr. Pearson discussed his policy on trade. He declared that if Canada was to regain prosperity and full employment she must produce more and sell more, both at home and abroad. Accordingly, "a Liberal government would give a top priority to the expansion of Canada's international trade," he said.

Tragedy-Hit Bali Asks World Aid

DENPASAR, Bali (AP) — The deluge of lava from sacred Agung volcano was reported to have stopped today after five days of eruption. The governor of Bali said at least 1,100 islanders have died.

"We have 75,000 homeless people to feed at this point, and we need help from everybody," said Governor Anak Agung Sutadja.

He said another 200,000 may have lost their livelihood. Thousands of acres of once-fertile rice land lay beneath tons of lava and ash that have blanketed Bali's northeast coast.

An estimated 100,000 Balinese were fleeing the stricken area. Riding and afoot, they carried the possessions they could as they tried to get away from the 10,308-foot volcano which erupted briefly in February after years of quiet, then went into violent action Sunday.

Reports from the disaster area said a heavy column of smoke still belled from the crater.

EVACUATE VILLAGES

A civil defence spokesman in Jakarta said earlier that more violent eruptions were feared, and authorities were trying to clear about 250,000 persons from a radius of 20 miles around the volcano.

A mushroom-shaped cloud of smoke could be seen from aircraft flying into Denpasar, but no ash was visible in this capital, about 70 miles southwest of Gunung Mount Agung.

MASS ARRESTS IN PRETORIA

PRETORIA, South Africa (Reuters)—Police today arrested 42 alleged members of the Poqo underground organization here on suspicion of conspiring to commit sabotage.

Police said they would all be charged under the General Law Amendment (Sabotage Act), which carries the death penalty for sabotage.

Police said the 42, all Negroes, were "picked up" from their homes. Police seized "certain articles" and investigations led them to regard the matter as of an "extremely serious nature."

Princess Has Abortion To Protect Her Health

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Princess Michiko had an abortion today to protect her delicate health.

The imperial household agency said the operation was successful and the princess, whose husband some day will be emperor of Japan, is in generally good condition.

Crown Prince Akihito took over the 28-year-old princess soon after the operation.

Michiko, a sports-loving commoner whose marriage four years ago thrilled the nation, expected her second baby in September or early October. Her first, Prince Hiro, is three.

No official medical explanation has been given for the abortion. But a spokesman for the imperial household agency said before the operation it was believed Michiko's health had been impaired by a continuous round of official and social functions before pregnancy.

Abortions are permitted under Japan's 1949 eugenics law if the attending physician certifies that giving birth would be injurious to the mother's health, that the child would be deformed or that it would become an intolerable economic burden.

Crown Timber Bought By Non-Operator

A trucking firm operator who said he had neither logging equipment or sawmill said Wednesday that he made $22,000 profit on a crown timber sale.

Dalip Singh, director of Random Services Corporation, said he had been bidding on crown timber since he liquidated his sawmill in 1948-49.

Mr. Singh was speaking before the legislature's committee on forestry which is investigating-bidding practices on crown timber throughout the province.

INCREASE PRICE

Operators from many sections of B.C. have said that persons who have nothing to lose but a small deposit are attending auctions of crown timber and increasing the price.

Mr. Singh told Don Robinson (SC-Lillooet) he made the $22,000 when he bought a timber sale then contracted out to another operator.

Asked if he felt justified in bidding away timber needed by established operators who needed it, he replied "other people did it and got away with it."

He said that he would continue to do it while the law permits it.

"B.C. mills get the timber. We don't sell it to Japan or India. It's just a matter of whose pocket gets fat."

As the Crow Flies—Nevermore

A RHYME-MAKER in The Christian Science Monitor has placed a question mark behind the term "as the crow flies." The phrase, as humans use it, suggests the most direct route between two points, the straight line, unbent by obstacles encountered by creatures travelling on the ground. But, says the rhyme-maker, crows don't fly any straighter than other birds.

I watched a flock riding a westerly the other day. They play in the wind, chesting up to it like a deb in her first formal. They wheel, without quite the sweep of gulls, and they plummet, but not so daringly as hawks.

Stott

I am not an admirer of crows. Even the magic of Ernest Thompson Seton's glamorized "Silverpelt" hasn't convinced me. As far as I'm concerned, they're just a bunch of pirates and cannibals in tuxedos without white shirts. If, through childhood's fables, you have been impressed by their alleged intelligence, just subject the most famous fable to a practical test.

You remember the one. In it a crow, looking for a drink, saw water at the bottom of a jar and couldn't reach it. According to the story, he packed pebbles in his beak, dropping them into the jar until, by displacement, he raised the water level. What a lot of malarky! If, in the most improbable event that he tried the experiment, the bird would have had nothing but a jar full of pebbles—with a little water moistening the bottom ones.

"As the crow flies" can be as straight as the way home of primary and preprimary youngsters, who stop to dig out, with small sticks, the dirt-between-cracks-in-the-side-walk, who poke around gateposts just to see what's inside, who form their little groups for spontaneous play on the journey and who know, instinctively, that the flight of an arrow isn't half as interesting as the meandering travel of water in a stream.

The flight-pattern of a crow is about as unspectacular and unappealing as the flight of any bird I've seen. It hasn't the lilting rhythm of a robin, fluting from a tree limb to the lawn. It lacks the military precision of geese in their long migratory journeys. There is nothing in the progress of a group of crows half so startlingly brilliant as the quick wheel of turnstones, lifting from the tideline, their undersides flashing in sharp white.

What has the crow's flight to compare with the ballet-like precision of a pheasant whirling away or grass-top skimming in its long landing glide?

Who would try to match the querulous passage of these outside blackbirds with the trim, dynamic rush of wild ducks, wings whistling, as they parallel the horizon of a grey sea, or swing, first high and then down to the surface of a sheltered bay?

Give me the twittering dart of chickadees from bush to bush, the cockiness of a sparrow in the air or on a tree limb, the miracle of a hummingbird, whose flight is as quick as gunshot, or even the showboating gulls who have done their aerodynamic homework and who know how to fly straight to their island roosts at sundown.

The crow I leave to Mr. Seton, to Aesop (or was it La Fontaine?) and to Mr. Edgar Allan Poe, whose raven quoth the proper advice on using that "as the crow flies" phrase. For me, as for Edgar, "Nevermore."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Winston Movie Under Way

LONDON Richard Attenborough is regarded as the actor most likely to play Churchill in The Heart of the Lion, the forthcoming movie of Sir Winston as a young man.

There are two reasons why Attenborough, 39 now and seen in dozens of British pictures, will probably get this plum role in this film which will be one of the biggest things to come out of Hollywood in recent years.

In the first place there's his striking resemblance to the young Churchill. He has twice headed polls on the actor best suited to portray the great man.

Also, Attenborough is a business associate of the man who is doing the script and will probably direct the movie—Bryan Forbes. They made that scathing attack on labor unions, The Angry Silence, together.

Forbes has just come back from Hollywood with a $275,000 contract for the Churchill script, but final decision on who will get the big part rests with the man himself. Nothing will be shot until Sir Winston approves the script and the actor to play him.

HOME GARDEN

Different Ways to Prepare Peat

Admittedly peat moss is peat moss, but there are different grinds designed for specific uses, and different ways of preparing the raw peat which affects its texture.

Unless the grind is suited to the use the home gardener may find the results disappointing.

The finest grind is almost a dust suited to seed sowing and seed covering indoors, combining in soil mixtures for potted plants with fine root systems, and for top dressing lawns.

The medium grinds are for general outdoor use, such as planting, mixing with top soil in seed beds, and for mulching acid-loving plants.

The coarse grinds, sold as chicken litter or special nursery grind, are of greatest interest to the home gardener because they are the ones most effective in opening clay soils and giving moisture retaining properties to light soils.

For soil improvement the gardener is looking for quantity at a price and the price is often the deciding factor.

However, the price is directly related to the quantity in the bag, and the bag capacities range from near 3½ cubic feet to six cubic feet depending on how tightly the product is compressed.

It is necessary to work out the price on a cubic foot basis for a similar grind before a true comparison can be made.

INCOME TAX TIPS

Here is the last article in a series on how to make out your income tax return and obtain refunds and best possible concessions. It is prepared by Gordon Holms, C.A., a partner in the firm of Bailey, Monteith, Holms Co.

By GORDON HOLMS, C.A.

Have you obtained your 1962 refund? If not, there is still time before the April rush.

You should have all wage slips, dividend, medical receipts and donation receipts on hand by now. So it is just a matter of getting down to the job at hand—the preparation of your 1962 return (message to chartered accountants: "Successful men follow the advice they prescribe for others.") or your professional accountant if you feel the problem warrants professional advice.

Don't forget, if you have problems during this preparation, call on the services provided by Ottawa in the Belmont Building, Victoria.

If you have already filed and suddenly discover an other donation or medical receipt, do not send in another tax return, just write a letter to the Director of Taxation, Belmont Building, Victoria, and tell him all about it.

The late filing penalty is 5 per cent of the tax unpaid at the 30th of April, 1963, and unpaid taxes bear interest at 6 per cent per annum.

As you will remember, in the second column of this series, we told of the change for T1 general filers—T1 general filers will send their return in the envelope provided to the Taxation Data Centre, P.O. Box 456, Ottawa 2, Ontario.

If after today you still have unanswered income tax questions, please write to the Victoria Daily Times, P.O.

Box 300, Victoria, and we will see that you obtain an answer by mail.

A-WEAPONS OPPOSED

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan legislature went on record Thursday as being opposed to the use of nuclear weapons on Canadian soil or by Canadian forces.

After about four hours of debate on the question members split strictly on party lines with Liberals opposing a motion putting the legislature on record against nuclear weapons and CCF government members supporting the motion.

The recorded vote was 28 to 12. Many members were absent to attend the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities convention in Saskatoon. Others were away sick.

'OTTAWA SHOULD BEAR UNIVERSITY COSTS'

VANCOUVER (CP)—New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas has called for recognition of the principle that financing of university education is a legitimate responsibility of the federal government.

Mr. Douglas outlined NDP policy on higher education at an election rally Thursday night in nearby Steveston.

There is no alternative to the federal government assuming a much greater responsibility for the financing of Canadian universities, he declared, adding that the present $2 grant per head of population represents less than 15 per cent of Canadian universities' 1962-63 operating expenditures.

The federal government had a parallel responsibility with that of the provinces and the universities in higher education.

A crowd of about 750 filled the high school auditorium where the rally was held for Robert Prittie, NDP candidate for Burnaby-Richmond seeking re-election the April 8 federal election.

'Lousy' World Image Created by Tories, Liberal Charges

The Conservatives have created a "lousy" image for Canada throughout the world, Victoria Liberal candidate David Groos said Thursday.

In a gloves-off speech at Boilermakers' Hall, Mr. Groos told an audience of almost 500: "If I didn't think the last government had been a disaster, I wouldn't be a candidate."

He said it was all right for Liberal leader Lester Pearson to urge candidates to speak on a high level with responsible remarks.

"But I am also responsible for getting elected," he said. "He summed up the six years of Tory administration: Six deficit budgets. A 'lousy' image abroad. The apathetic acceptance of 500,000 unemployed. No plans for creating new industry."

"We are fighting with everybody and everybody is out of step but the Conservative government," said the former naval captain.

Meanwhile, his Conservative opponent Eric Charman told a meeting of Victoria Women's Conservative Association that he will work to improve the Turkey Head breakwater if he is elected.

He said it was the efforts of former Tory MP A. DeB. McPhillips which built the breakwater but the job hadn't gone far enough.

It should be extended, or another one built from Mary Tod Island shoreward, to provide safe mooring for visiting U.S. boats, he said.

Esquimalt-Saanich Tory candidate George Chatterton said $100,000 had been earmarked for rock removal in Sooke Harbour.

He spoke to 33 persons in Sooke Community Hall.

He charged the B.C. government with trailing the rest of the nation in the provision of technical and vocational schools.

He said it was "scandalous" that B.C. had not taken greater advantage of a federal offer to pay 75 per cent of the cost of such projects.

Compulsory Education To Junior Matric Urged

Compulsory education to the junior matriculation level was proposed Thursday by Victoria Social Credit candidate Ald. M. H. Mooney.

"We should take a look at a law saying boys should go to school until they get their junior matriculation or until they are 18 or 20," he said.

Addressing 18 persons at Pacific Coast Beauty School, he said the idea might sound revolutionary, "but I'm a believer in education."

He said he could recall when parents in farm areas of Canada protested the entry of a law requiring all students to attend school until they achieved a grade eight standing.

This meant that many youngsters had to be released from farm toil for the first time, he said.

"This government has done more for Victoria than any other government in the same period," he stated, not meaning it to come out that way.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson told the meeting that Ald. Mooney was "short on words but long on action" and would make a capable servant of Canada.

He said Mr. Mooney would work for greater federal assistance to education. "Recently the minister said in the legislature that full implementation of the MacDonald report—UBC president John Macdonald's recommendations for a vastly increased university program—must await fuller federal participation."

He pointed out that B.C. college graduates often move to

Big Investment, Few Jobs

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

There's an interesting side-light on the announcement that Armour Industrial Chemical Co. of Chicago is planning to build a $2 million plant near Saskatoon to produce fatty acid nitrogen derivatives.

Not too many years ago, in most industries, an investment of that size could be counted on to provide employment for at least 300 workers.

But so highly automated have many plants become — and chemicals and petroleum refining are leaders in the field — that the new Saskatoon plant is expected to employ only about 25 persons.

That works out to an investment of at least $100,000 per worker and perhaps much more.

The big forest industry firms in B.C. are not keen to talk about the situation but the fact is that much the same situation prevails in the huge expansion programs they are now carrying out.

A modest estimate of the investment in expansion and new plants, primarily in pulp and paper, either being carried out now or projected for the near future in B.C., runs to over $200 million.

A decade or so ago it would have been possible to estimate that this amount of capital invested would result in creation of from 6,000 to 8,000 jobs for workers.

Now, with every possible phase of operations automated to wrest the highest possible profit from every dollar invested, it is extremely doubtful if this tremendous investment will result in creation of even 1,000 new jobs.

This is not to deprecate the aim of increasing production at the lowest cost per man-hour, or to minimize the great boost which this investment will give to the economy of B.C.

But it does draw attention to the problem which is increasingly worrying business, labor and government, of ever-increasing amounts of capital investment producing an ever-diminishing number of permanent jobs.

Utica Mines Ltd., suspended from trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, will not be re-listed until financial information on a mercury mining project in Turkey is produced.

Managing director Andrew Robertson said there was no question the records could be obtained, but it was difficult to get an audit because the records were in Turkey and were in the Turkish language.

Of this week's two federal refunding issues, the shorter 3 1/4 per cent due Feb. 1, 1961, met with the better reception, according to the James Richardson and Sons' bond market note.

The short issue was priced at $99.20 to yield 4.23 per cent — a slight concession to the market.

The longer 4 1/4 per cent due April 1, 1963, at $99.50 to yield 4.31 per cent, received a "rather mediocre reception" initially, but by issuing only $60 million a small technical shortage was created and the issue is currently priced bid.

The general market tone is firm, Richardson says, but cautious with the coming election foremost in most minds.

C. A. Pollock, president of Dominion Electrohome Industries Ltd., told shareholders at the annual meeting that the annual dividend was being doubled, from 20 to 40 cents, because as the shareholder list broadens and outstanding warrants are converted "the low dividend rate of the last few years does not constitute an adequate return."

The meeting approved creation of a block of 10,000 preferred shares of $100 par value.

Water injection programs are to be started in three B.C. oilfields this year—Boundary Lake, Peejay and Milligan Creek.

It is expected that the project—pumping water through drilled wells to maintain pressure—will at least double the amount of oil recoverable.

Water injection will require the utilization of the three fields, and allotment of total recoverable production to field operators on a pro rata basis.

Western Mines Ltd., has entered into an agreement with Yankee Dundee Mines Ltd., covering an option to purchase 16 claims to the west of the Lynx group on Western's Butte Lake property.

Western will pay Yankee Dundee 50,000 shares of Western over a period starting four years from now if the claims are retained.

It has also been announced that Western's underwriting group, T. A. Richardson & Co. and Wills Bickie & Co. Ltd., have agreed with Consolidated Mining & Smelting that if either group fails to exercise options on Western shares, the other will receive the option.

The underwriters hold options on 77.18 per cent of future share offerings, of which 25 per cent is sub-ordinated to Faraday Uranium Mines Ltd., while Cominco's options maintain its 22.22 per cent interest in Western.

It is reported that when all present options are taken down, Faraday could have a total of 215,867 Western shares or about 5 per cent of the total outstanding—exclusive of any open market buying which Faraday might be doing.

Canadian consumers were busy plugging up heavier debts during 1962—up 11 per cent from the previous year, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The total was $3,766,000,000 compared with $3,378,000,000 in 1961.

Main categories (1961 figures in brackets) were: Chartered bank personal loans $1,685,000,000 ($1,432,000,000); finance companies $1,441,000,000 ($1,256,000,000); small loan companies $644,000,000 ($559,000,000); department store credit $127,000,000 ($401,000,000); sales finance company commercial loans $125,000,000 ($395,000,000); furniture and appliance stores $194,000,000 ($195,000,000); loan company installment credit $45,000,000 ($35,000,000).

Crude Oil Reserves Increase

CALGARY (CP)—Canada's reserves of crude oil and natural gas liquids increased 426,824,000 barrels to a total of 5,176,052,000 barrels during 1962, the Canadian Petroleum Association has reported.

The discovery of new fields and new pools in old fields accounted for the addition of 24,346,000 barrels to proved reserves.

Net production of crude oil and natural gas liquids during 1962 amounted to 268,417,000 barrels.

Proved producible natural gas reserves as of Dec. 31, 1962, were estimated at 35,436,892,000,000 cubic feet, an increase of 1,899,042,000,000 cubic feet.

Japan to Import 400,000 Tons Of Canadian Coal

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese steelmakers have agreed to import 400,000 tons of Canadian coal in fiscal 1963 beginning April 1.

This is 100,000 tons less than was purchased by Japan in fiscal 1962.

Kiyoshi Murata, of Nippon Kokan Company, who represented the steel makers at the negotiations with the Canadians told reporters: "This decrease of 100,000 tons is simply due to the fall in Japan's steel industry at the moment. There is a possibility that Canadian coal imports will be increased this fall depending on the steel market at that time. The figure agreed upon is simply a minimum amount."

Murata said it is "not unreasonable to expect" Japan to buy 1,000,000 tons of Canadian coal annually "in the not too distant future, providing that the price can be kept competitive."

GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Announcement of a 4,400,000-bushel sale of Canadian wheat to Czechoslovakia featured grain developments today while most Winnipeg Grain Exchange prices showed firmness near the close.

Export interest was generally quiet and while there was some inquiry for Canadian flax there were no immediate reports of export business. Flax showed some rally.

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures turned generally firm to strong in the early afternoon today with some wheat and soybean contracts showing gains of well over a cent a bushel on the Board of Trade.

The support for May wheat, particularly, was credited to rumors that the U.S. government will soon issue some large overseas purchase authorizations which could require withdrawals from stocks in commercial positions.

Every North American atomic submarine has just one Paxton Supercharger as its sole means of air circulation while underwater. The life of the crew depends on the unfailing operation of this single unit. This confidence comes only from quality. Paxton Products is a division of Studebaker.

STUDEBAKER ENGINEERING SAVES LIVES - CREATES PROGRESS

Gravelly Tractors, one of the most highly respected small tractors in the world, is also a new Studebaker Division. To keep up with the demands for this fine unit, two new buildings have been constructed and additional plans are in the making. Highly favoured in North America, Gravelly Tractors are rapidly expanding their export market around the world.

Studebaker is on the move... and one of the fastest growing large corporations in the world. As you can see, Studebaker doesn't "just" build fine automobiles. Studebaker is a large and complex operation, helping to build a better world. When you watch your television set, listen to your radio or read the newspaper, the big events taking place probably include Studebaker engineering.

Dethroned King Dave Moore Very Close to Death's Door

Ramos, Rodriguez, Cruz Gain World Ring Titles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dave Moore was in a coma suffering from "a serious head injury" and his chances of living are poor, a hospital physician said today after the former world featherweight champion lost his title to Sugar Ramos in one of three title fights here Thursday night.

Dr. Philip Vogel reported Moore was in a deep coma.

"His chances are extremely poor," Dr. Vogel said. He added that Moore had suffered injury to the mid-brain area and his fate probably will be known within the next 12 hours.

Three boxing titles have new owners today after a pair of spectacular knockouts and a controversial decision in the ballyhooed triple-championship extravaganza.

A crowd of 26,142 watched as Ramos won the featherweight title in the middle bout by knocking Moore out.

In the opener at Dodger Stadium, Luis Rodriguez took the welterweight championship away from Emile Griffith on a decision — unanimous but subject to argument. In the windup, Roberto Cruz knocked out Balthazar Torres in the first round to win the vacant junior welterweight title.

Ramos, who lost the early rounds, smashed Moore down in the 10th round and had him draped over a rope and helpless as the round ended. Manager Ketchum asked that the fight be halted.

In his dressing room, the dethroned 126-pound king said "I'd like to fight him again." Some time after he was rolled out unconscious on a table to an ambulance.

Tax Lien Delays Trip Home

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The U.S. government has filed an income tax bill of $9,798 on the $26,000 the stricken Argentine heavyweight, Alejandro Lavorante, earned in 1962.

Because of the tax lien, Lavorante's father will not be able to take his son home until after a hearing, set for May 29.

The boxer has been in a coma for six months. He was knocked out in a Los Angeles fight and never has regained consciousness, although he responds to simple commands from his parents and nurses at the hospital where he has been confined since the knockout.

Lavorante's father was given permission two weeks ago to handle the $16,886 the boxer had in a bank account, but the tax lien ties up the money until the hearing.

FACE OF A BEATEN MAN

An ice pack at the side of his head, defeated world featherweight champion Dave Moore, 29, sat with eyes closed in his dressing room at Los Angeles Thursday after absorbing terrific pounding from new champion Sugar Ramos of Mexico City. Minutes later Moore was wheeled unconscious to hospital where he lapsed into coma.

NANAIMO—Curtailed of government ferry service to the mainland today threatened to leave Nanaimo's Inter-City Lacrosse League club marooned on a financial sea.

Because the midnight ferry trip from the mainland to Nanaimo has been discontinued, Nanaimo will be forced to charter a plane for a return trip to Victoria and then return home by chartered bus.

Bill McFarlane, president of the Nanaimo Lacrosse club, said the government notified the city it does not plan to alter a new schedule calling for the last ferry to leave the mainland at 10 p.m.

The last sailing under previous schedules was midnight.

As coach of Esquimalt Pontiac he would like to see his club wrap up the Esquimalt District Hockey League title tonight. They can accomplish the job by disposing of Navy in the third game of the best-of-five series which gets underway at the Sports Centre at 8 p.m.

As manager of the Centre, he would like the series to go the limit—with Esquimalt winning the final game in a blaze of gold dust. The first two games, won 8-7 and 3-1 by Esquimalt, resulted in bumper crowds.

Shedding his schizophrenic feelings, Iannarelli the realist said today he would be "very surprised" if Esquimalt "wins in three straight."

"I don't mean that it's an impossible task," said Iannarelli. "It's just that Navy has given us a battle in both games. The 8-7 game could have gone either way. And if it wasn't for Griffiths we would not have taken the second one."

"Griffis" is Ron Griffiths, tall and pudgy, slick in goal last year, hot and cold this season, and death on Navy drives Tuesday. He kicked out 53 shots—hard, close-in drives which give goalies fits.

Whichever way Friday's game goes, one thing appears certain. The Centre will rock with a full house. If you intend to go, be early—or you'll be absent.

Ref Heeded Call to Stop Bout

Moore was in bad shape when Ketchum signaled to the referee to stop it.

"I told him to stop it because my guy was taking such a beating," Ketchum said.

Moore led off the 10th round with a left hook and had Ramos pinned against the ropes when the powerful challenger suddenly drove the champion across the ring with a flurry of lefts. One left dropped Moore to his knees. He got up quickly but promptly ran into another barrage that dropped him to the canvas again.

Moore got up as the count reached five, but lurched across the ring and draped himself on the ropes. Ramos closed in and Moore spilled halfway between the ropes when the bell sounded. He was carried to the corner.

Ramos, who fled from Cuba and now makes Mexico City his home, remained undefeated, winning his 41st fight. The two boxers each weighed 125½ pounds.

Griffith, ironically, was involved in a fatal title fight almost exactly one year ago. He regained the welterweight crown last March 24 at New York's Madison Square Garden by stopping Benny (Kid) Parise, who died of brain injuries 10 days later.

Rodriguez, an ex-Cuban who now calls Miami, Fla., home, boxed his way to the unanimous verdict over the harder-hitting Griffith.

'I Can't Understand It'—Emile

"I can't understand it," Griffith moaned. "He didn't hurt me once and I hurt him several times. Rodriguez wouldn't stay in there and fight. He kept running."

The new 147-pound champion who weighed 146 to 145½ for Griffith, said, "I planned to keep moving around and use the left jab and hit him in the stomach. The plan worked perfectly. Griffith never hurt me at any time."

Referee Tommy Hart scored the bout 9-5, judge Lee Grossman 8-5 and judge John Thomas 8-6 all for Rodriguez.

Cruz, 21, was an underdog like Ramos, with odds of 2½ to 1.

Under California rules, the Ramos victory also was by knockout—recorded in the 10th round because the bell started the fight.

Cruz weighed 138½ to 140, the junior welter limit, for Torres.

'I Can't Understand It'—Emile

"I can't understand it," Griffith moaned. "He didn't hurt me once and I hurt him several times. Rodriguez wouldn't stay in there and fight. He kept running."

The new 147-pound champion who weighed 146 to 145½ for Griffith, said, "I planned to keep moving around and use the left jab and hit him in the stomach. The plan worked perfectly. Griffith never hurt me at any time."

Referee Tommy Hart scored the bout 9-5, judge Lee Grossman 8-5 and judge John Thomas 8-6 all for Rodriguez.

Cruz, 21, was an underdog like Ramos, with odds of 2½ to 1.

Under California rules, the Ramos victory also was by knockout—recorded in the 10th round because the bell started the fight.

Cruz weighed 138½ to 140, the junior welter limit, for Torres.

'SHUT MA' MOUTH!

Stiff wallop to the chops was one of many hard punches thrown by Emile Griffith, left, in his world welterweight bout with Luis Rodriguez of Miami, at Los Angeles Thursday night. Rodriguez won title after 15 rounds of furious fighting.

By UP International

Warren Spahn and Early Wynn, who can be excused for eyeing the calendar carefully, picked the first day of spring to demonstrate there's plenty of life in their aging arms.

And the results of their efforts Thursday probably will be that Spahn will pitch the opening game of the National League season for Milwaukee.

Braves and Wynn will be carried by Chicago White Sox at least long enough to achieve the 300th victory of his career.

Spahn, whose 18 victories last season were the most in the league, pitched 10 1/3 innings, allowed only one run and three hits in seven innings as the Braves bowed to New York Mets, 2-1.

Wynn, whose triumphs last season lifted his career mark to 299, went three innings and permitted just one run in the White Sox' 7-6 loss to Cincinnati Reds.

Spahn, who will be 42 on April 23, thinks he'll again be able to take a regular starting turn and be good for 17-to-20 victories this year. He failed to make 20 last season for the first time since 1953.

TWO GOOD STINTS

Wynn was hit hard in early spring trials but now has turned in two consecutive strong three-inning stints. He was tagged for one hit by a homer by rookie Tommy Harper Thursday. Only last Sunday he had pitched three scoreless innings against the Mets.

Pittsburgh Pirates—dealt Minnesota Twins their fifth straight defeat, 5-4, in 10 innings, with Dick Schofield collecting four of their 12 hits. Vic Power singled home two runs for the Twins and extended his hitting streak to 10 consecutive games.

Three-run homers by Wes Covington and Frank Torre came off 25-game winner Don Drysdale and enabled Philadelphia Phillies to shade Los Angeles Dodgers, 8-7. Art Mahaffey, a 19-game winner last season, yielded four runs and seven hits in six innings.

TWO FOR KALINE

Al Kaline hit two homers and Norm Cash and Jake Wood also homered to lead Detroit Tigers to an 11-1 romp over Baltimore Orioles, who suffered their second loss in a row after 10 victories. Cash had a double and a triple in addition to his homer.

New York Yankees and Washington Senators struggled four hours and 25 minutes to a

SAND TRAP TIPS

In any sand trap shot, keep these two things in mind:

1. Remember to follow through.
2. Hit a bit farther behind the ball for a buried sand shot. If you normally hit an inch or an inch and a half behind the ball, try two or two and a half inches for the buried shot.

Concentrate on where you want to hit the ball and on following through, as shown in today's illustration. With an open blade, the sand iron rides through the sand, and the loft of the club pops the ball up and out of trouble. Remember to swing through the sand—not just into it.

Stars Beaten By Olympians

Victoria Amateur Swimming Club Olympians have this water polo business down pat. They proved it Thursday at ceremonies to present them with the championship trophy.

Olympians took on an all-star club at Royal Roads and came out ahead 9-6. Monty Holding scored four goals, Trevor Cole had three and Martin Schaddalle and Kit Johansen one each. For the Stars Bruce Warburton had three, Doug Patterson and Brian Smedley one each.

Usually when Victoria United is facing an idle weekend in the Pacific Coast Soccer League battles, manager Wally Milligan is fretting.

But it's a different story today. If the Victorians had a game on their schedule Saturday they would have to go with 10 men, and perhaps one of the limping lads on their injury list.

Allowed to sign 15 players, United currently has five on the shelf.

Harold Holroyd (head injury) and Jim Dougal (torn thigh muscles) are out for the season. Geoff Hill (burned hand), Russell Ball (torn ankle ligament) and Ron Jenkin (ankle injury) won't be ready to go again until next weekend.

The Victoria situation draws attention to the advantage owned by Vancouver clubs when personnel problems pop up. All mainland teams in the PCSL have clubs in a junior league from which they are permitted to draw replacements.

United must abide by the January 1 deadline for player transfers.

This was pointed out this week by Milligan in a request submitted through the PCSL to the B.C. association for permission to sign a couple of additional players.

The week wasn't without some good news for United officials. They had been concerned with the schedule, which called for three of the club's last four league games to be played in Vancouver, and plans to have all semi-final playoff games on the mainland.

At a Tuesday meeting in Vancouver, Milligan was able to have two league games switched to Victoria.

Two Games Switched to Victoria

United will now host Pilsners March 30, Columbus April 6 and Royal City April 27. Victoria will play North Shore April 21 in Vancouver.

The league also settled the playoff picture, deciding that the team finishing in first place will meet the third club and the second will face the third in sudden-death semi-finals. Games will be played on home pitches of the top two clubs.

First division clubs should also clarify the playoff situation in the Victoria and District League this weekend.

Four of the eight clubs have completed the 14 game schedule and Gorge Hotel, although still having two games on the list, has clinched the Garrison Cup. And the closest rivals—Kickers, Brodies and Victoria West—have completed their schedules.

Brodies and Scottish share second place with 14 points. Esquimalt, with one game left, has 12, while West has 10 points and two matches remaining.

That puts the interest in this week's matches on the race for the third and fourth spots. Should Esquimalt or West join the N-point tangle, goal averages will decide the last two playoff berths.

Three Players Handed Suspensions

Gorge clashes with Esquimalt Saturday at Royal Athletic Park and Wests tangle with Evoces Sunday at Heywood Park.

Three suspensions were handed out by the first division this week. Horst Szukolla of Wests was set down two games for fighting and teammate Pat Mulcahy got one game for rough play. Henry Cannon of Brodies was banned for one game for fighting.

The V & D stars open their annual home-and-home series with the mainline all-stars next Saturday at Vancouver. Fans wishing to travel to the game are asked to contact Bill Scobie at Athletic Park Saturday.

Second division clubs continue with their round-robin cup playoffs with four games Sunday.

Eddys, needing only a tie to clinch the Memorial Cup series, faces Oak Bay at Central Park. Drakes and Vikings tangle at Windsor in the other Memorial Cup tussle.

In the Commission Cup series it will be Naden against Victoria Press at Naden and Kings against Warriors at Beacon Hill.

All matches are at 2 p.m. Big match of the Combination League season comes up Saturday morning at 10:15.

GUY GENDRON

Gendron Bounced For Belting Buffey

New York and Boston, two teams who missed their chance to make the National Hockey League playoffs a long while ago, played two games this week that couldn't help anybody except the few in the running for individual scoring honors.

As it turned out, the games didn't even help the stars much. Two lesser lights came to the fore as New York won 5-1 Wednesday and settled for a 2-2 tie Thursday.

Rangers won the first game on a three-goal performance by young Vic Hadfield, who had netted only two goals in the 33 previous games.

Thursday it was defenseman Ted Green who earned Bruins the draw, scoring his first goal of the season at 13:03 of the final period.

John Bucyk got Bruins off to a 1-0 lead in the second period, netting his 27th goal on a spectacular play from Wayne Hicks and Bob Leiter. The goal gave Bucyk a four-point cushion as seventh-ranked scorer in the league. But with 66 points, he is 17 behind pace-setter Gord Howe of Detroit and has only one game left to play.

HENRY SCORES AGAIN

Rangers bounced back and took the lead on third-period goals by Capanne Henry and former Bruin Don McKenney.

Guy Gendron of Boston was thrown out of the game after playing only 12 minutes when he became so incensed over a penalty call that he hit referee Vern Buffey.

Just before Henry bagged his 35th goal, Andy Heberton of New York was awarded a penalty shot when defenseman Doug Morris dumped him from behind. Ed Johnston, Boston's rookie goalie, blocked the shot.

The rest of the schedule is meaningful only to Chicago and Montreal, battling for second spot with 78 points each and two games left.

Toronto has first place sewed up with 82 points and Detroit is marked for fourth with 73. Either Chicago or Montreal could tie Toronto in points, but the Leafs would get the title because they have more wins than either opponent can get.

Ed Powers Names Six In $170,000 Lawsuit

TORONTO (UPI) — Former National Hockey League referee Eddie Powers is suing six different parties—including Toe Blake of the Canadiens—for a total of $170,000 in damages, it was learned Thursday.

The suit is being instituted under the Libel and Slander Act for remarks allegedly made by Montreal coach Blake following a game in which Powers worked.

Powers' lawyers have filed suit in Toronto against Blake, the Canadian Arena Co., three sports writers of the French-language daily Montreal Matin editor Jacques Beauchamp and Jean Paul Sarault and Jean Pierre Sanchez—as well as the newspaper itself.

Blake and the arena company are being sued for $35,000 each while the others are being sued for $25,000 each.

Blake was quoted by the Matin as saying: "Instead of discussing the case of Don Gallinger, the National Hockey League would do better to inquire into its officials because the way they conducted themselves tonight, they gave the impression of having bet on the outcome of the game."

Gallinger was suspended by the NHL for betting on hockey games—both on and against his own team, the Boston Bruins—in the late 40s. He was suspended for life and recently had been seeking reinstatement.

League president Clarence Campbell subsequently fined Blake $200. Shortly after the fine was announced, Powers disclosed he was quitting, claiming that the league had failed to support him sufficiently in the matter.

Powers was the second NHL official to quit this post during the season in recent years.

Royal Jubilee 'In the Black' By $1,300

Royal Jubilee Hospital's modern five-storey wing should be completed in about two and one-half months, 90 persons at the annual meeting Wednesday night were told.

Arrangements for the official opening ceremony will be announced later.

The meeting was told that noise, dust and inconveniences during the past year of construction were inevitable, but the contractors "did a wonderful job" of keeping these to a minimum.

Administrator George Masters reported "we just made it in the black" with an operating profit of $1,300 for 1962 on a $3,500,000 operating budget including government grants.

He said Jubilee operating costs, in common with other B.C. hospitals, are rising at about the rate of 5 per cent annually causing an increase in budgets of $826,800 over the past five years.

Medical administrator Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson said 9 per cent of the patients last year came from out-of-town locations because their doctors recommended the specialist facilities here.

He said the opening of the new wing will help relieve the hospital bed shortage, pointing out 5 per cent of patients entered last year after having been put on a waiting list.

Horse Lovers Will View Stallions

Because of continued growing interest in riding horses on Vancouver Island, a new venture is being planned at the end of the month aimed at "improving the breed."

Two local horsemen will conduct a tour of horse breeding farms on the southern end of the Island in which at least 12 registered stallions will be shown.

"Our idea," said Bob Shanks, one of the organizers of the tour, "is to enable more owners, and prospective owners to inspect and learn the advantages of sending their mares to the care of the purebred stallion."

Interested horse lovers as well as mare owners on the tour will be shown Thoroughbred, Arabian, American Saddlebred, Quarter-horse, Welsh and Shetland pony breeds.

The tour is scheduled on Sunday, March 31, leaving Douglas and Market streets at 8 a.m. It will continue through the day, ending at 6 in the evening. Participants will travel by charter buses and lunch will be provided. Admittance to the breeding farms will be allowed only ticket holders.

Working with Mr. Shanks in arranging the tour is Fred Ball who said the co-operation of stallion owners has been assured and the animals will be paraded for inspection at each farm while their outstanding qualities and achievements will be told over a public address system.

In most cases some offspring of each stallion will be shown as "examples" of the type of animal produced.

Further information and tickets are available from Mr. Shanks, phone EV 4-5011.

Funeral services will be held at McCall Brothers funeral home, Saturday, at 1:30 p.m., for John H. McConnell, long-time Victoria resident, who died here Wednesday, aged 81.

Mr. McConnell lived here 75 years and was a 50-year member of Vancouver-Quadra Lodge No. 2, AF and AM; Royal Arch Masons, Camosun Chapter; Western Gate Preceptory No. 39 and Gizeh Temple AAONMS.

He was also a member of the Victoria Typographical Union No. 201 and the Independent Order of Foresters.

Surviving are the widow, Hazel, 345 Linden; one daughter, Mrs. H. Molyneux, and two grandchildren, Allan and Wendy.

MUNICIPALITIES HOPE TO FIND COURT COST

The Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee Thursday anxiously decided to find out how hard it will be hit by proposed government legislation now before the legislature which sets up a provincial family court system to be financed entirely by the municipalities.

Committee members were told that the new regulations—expected to take effect July 1—could be used to force the four municipalities here to combine to build a new Family and Juvenile Court Building with offices for probation officers.

It could also be used to force Esquimalt municipality—which so far has remained aloof from the present joint juvenile court here on the grounds it has no juvenile problem—to set up its own facilities or else join the other Greater Victoria components.

Accused Claimed Officer 'Speeded Up'

Garfield Hameon, 19, of 3251 Alder, was fined $35 in Colwood police court this week, where he pleaded not guilty to a charge of careless driving.

He attempted to pass a car driven by Superintendent Cortlandt B. Macdonell of the RCMP while travelling north on the Trans-Canada Highway March 16.

Another vehicle was travelling south on the highway toward him.

The superintendent said he sounded his horn and increased his speed in order to prevent the accused from passing him.

The accused said the superintendent almost caused an accident by preventing him from returning to the north-bound lane.

He attempted to ask Superintendent Macdonell how fast he had to go to close the gap so that he could not get into the line of traffic again.

"That has nothing to do with it—that's not the point," Magistrate A. I. Thomas said.

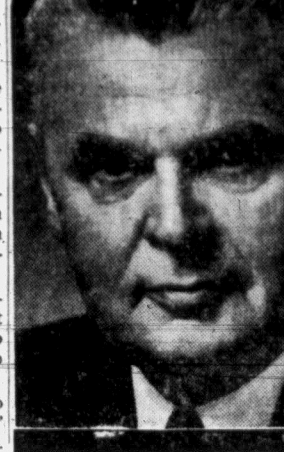

Hameon told the magistrate he just managed to nip in ahead of the RCMP officer's car.

"If I had tried to slow down I'd have been left sitting in the middle of the road when the other cars were travelling about 40 mph in the 50-mph zone."

"Why did you have to pass?" the magistrate asked.

"I thought the other cars were going too slow," the youth replied.

'Conflict of Interest' Ruled 'Private Matter'

PHONE HOG BILL RULED OUT OF ORDER

A private member's bill aimed at prosecuting people who hog telephone lines in an emergency failed in the legislature Thursday on second reading.

Proposed by Pat McGeer (L—Point Grey), the bill would have amended the Health Act to make an offence any telephone hogging where there is immediate danger to life and limb.

It would also have provided for action against any person requesting emergency use of a telephone line where no emergency exists.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said it must be considered whether such legislation should be in the Health Act, and if there is power to legislate, where a private company is concerned.

Mr. Bonner said the bill "falls far short of dealing with people who may find themselves involved in this type of situation," and because penalty is proposed, the Speaker ruled the bill out of order.

PGE Allegations Answered In Report Filed By Bonner

Allegations concerning the accounting practices of PGE Railway vice-president Einar M. Gunderson are a private matter and not of government concern, according to a report by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He filed the report in the legislature Thursday.

It was in answer to allegations about a conflict of interest on the part of Mr. Gunderson.

The allegations were made by James Rhodes (NDP—Delta).

Mr. Gunderson is a partner in the accounting firm of Gunderson, Stokes, Walton of Vancouver.

Mr. Rhodes charged in the House February 27 that Mr. Gunderson's company was involved in a firm, W. L. Laird Distributors, doing business with the PGE. He said this was "untenable."

He criticized "a long line of credit" extended to Laird by the PGE.

The Bonner report shows the company has lagged in its payments on this debt.

The report shows a debt of $65,000 which was to be paid back at $5,000 a year or half the annual profits, whichever was the greater.

Laird repaid only $1,000 in 1961 and $2,000 in 1962.

EINAR GUNDERSON ... not government concern

MLA Charges Oil Company 'Insults'

The B.C. president of Standard Oil and B.C. Chambers of Commerce has little respect for the legislature and people of the province, opposition member John Squire said in the house Thursday.

Mr. Squire (NDP—Alberni) said Ralph Baker had insulted members of the legislature in a letter to all MLAs, which was written in answer to pleas by Sacred Cyril Sheldford (Omineca) for a standardized system of gasoline prices across B.C.

"Oil companies from the well-head down are a pretty irresponsible bunch," Mr. Squire said.

"They don't seem to have too much respect for public opinion."

"When I see how we get skinned in this province, I can understand what's happening in Kuwait and places like that."

He quoted from the letter from Mr. Baker, who said, "Now is no time to weasel and waver" in a campaign against "cynical and self-seeking politicians."

Mr. Squire considered the remark "an insult not only to myself but to every other member of this house."

He said the oil companies write letters and make press releases that would indicate nobody has a brain in their head.

PERSONAL ATTACKS

"They make bitter personal attacks on the member for Omineca."

"The oil companies spend millions of dollars to advertise the same product under a different name."

The member said the system of "inequities in gas prices and featherbedding in the industry has got to stop."

He went on to urge development of a natural gas pipeline from the mainland across Gulf of Georgia to Vancouver Island north of Duncan should be by B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

He pointed out that a private company had failed to do it and failed to see why the people of Vancouver Island should be penalized on gas prices compared with mainland prices.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, whose estimates were being debated, pointed out that several millions had been spent by the company on engineering difficulty of building a submerged pipeline without solving the problem.

SALARY VOTE

In the same debate—which lasted just under three hours, most of it on Mr. Kiernan's salary vote—Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) asked Mr. Kiernan to consider closer inspection of new mining companies to ensure that "there is something in the ground to begin with."

'YOUNGSTERS SHOULD LEARN USE OF GUNS'

Fireworks Bill Fails on Division

Every parent should teach his children the proper use of pistols and rifles, Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the legislature Thursday in debate on a private bill to outlaw private use of fireworks.

"Youngsters should be taught to handle dangerous things. Any parent who does not teach his youngster to handle a pistol or rifle is not doing his duty by that child," Mr. Bonner said.

He said the argument that children should not handle firearms "is one of the most specious I've heard."

Debate was on a bill introduced for second reading by Mrs. Lois Haggan (NDP—Grand Forks-Greenwood), to amend the Fireworks Regulation Act, limiting sale and discharge of fireworks to people or organizations conducting a public display who have fire marshal's permission.

The vote went to division of the House after 11 members spoke on it, then failed by a count of 33 to 13. One Social Credit member—Bert Price—spoke in support of the bill, but was not in the House to vote for it. Instead, William Speare (SC—Cape Horn), stood alone in the government ranks to support Mrs. Haggan.

"I can't understand why we are so smug as to think just because we have taught our young people to handle these so-called 'playthings' safely that there will be accidents at all," Mrs. Haggan said.

It is the responsibility of the government to make control province wide rather than permissive to individual areas, she said.

Her concern was for the younger ones, to whom we are supposed to show some guidance and protection," she said.

"It is time parents took some responsibility as far as their children are concerned," said Irvine Corbett (SC—Yale), who said he was tired of legislation protecting people from themselves and each other.

ATLIN MLA MAKES NEW PLEA FOR COMMISSION ON MINING

A renewed plea for a royal commission into mining was made in the legislature Thursday by Frank Calder (NDP—Atlin), who was supported by colleague Leo Nimick (NDP—Cranbrook).

Mr. Calder said the terms of reference should include monopoly in the industry, speculation in mining properties, road accessibility, feasibility of copper and iron smelters, setting up secondary industries, prospecting, markets, displaced workers, tax and geological surveys.

Electrical wiring, copper tubing, asbestos brake linings, fire proofing and steel are some of the manufactures that could be produced right in the province, he said. This would help reduce export of raw material and displacement of workmen in Canada.

Phone Calls About Beer Denied

One affidavit, from Douglas F. Small, Laird's branch manager at Shalalth in 1956 and 1957 said that Laird telephoned someone called Gunderson when he wanted beer shipped up the PGE.

Mr. Gunderson told Mr. Bonner's investigators that he didn't know the man allegedly involved and never received any telephone calls from him to the best of his knowledge.

Another allegation in the affidavit was that a special PGE train moved Mr. Laird's personal goods and that he sold a house worth $4,000 for $14,000. Mr. Bonner's report says the facts were that it was sold for $3,000. It adds there never was any special train.

A second affidavit presented by Mr. Rhodes was by Luger C. Robineau, who said he was hired by Mr. Laird to check accounts.

He said he found "tremendous" differences between PGE debts and claims. He also found most of Laird's figures, which he said had been audited by Mr. Gunderson's firm, to be incorrect.

The Bonner report said that Mr. Robineau had been jailed for forgery in 1957.

It added that at no time did Mr. Gunderson's firm undertake to do an audit of the Laird books.

The firm had only done a mere summary, the report said.

Forest Companies Give Opinions On Independents

Two major B.C. forest companies agreed Thursday that independent loggers can play a role in harvesting Crown timber in company tree farm licence areas—but disagreed on what the role should be.

L. L. G. Bentley, vice-president of Canadian Forest Products Limited, said harvest contracts should be given independent operators only if they can perform the service more efficiently than the company.

J. O. Hemmingsen, vice-president of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited, said there is a place for large and small contracting within the company's operations, even though the contracting costs his company money.

POLITICAL ANALYSIS

Rural Voters Stick to John

This is one of a series of studies of the Canadian general election. It is compiled by a Montreal-born social scientist and is sponsored jointly by The Montreal Star and the University of Rochester. This is part two of a survey of Alberta.

By S. PETER REGENSTRIEF

EDMONTON — In the rural Alberta constituencies the Liberals are not in the race.

Here the question is whether there is enough falling away from Diefenbaker to elect Soereds.

The still-prevailing attitude on the farm is that it is almost a sign to turn against "John." A retired cattle-breeder was simply giving voice, albeit in exaggerated form, to a feeling that is general throughout the Prairies when he exclaimed: "There's no issues at all. I like the government we have now. They did more in five months than the Liberals did in 50 years. I've been here a long time and I remember the 'dirty thirties'. They did nothing even then. Alberta is doing OK. Even with unstable government. I'm afraid of a stable Liberal government."

"The most likely Tory casualty is Wetaskiwin. The Liberals are hurting the Conservatives in the town and there is a slight shift back to Social Credit in some rural areas. The Conservatives can not stand to lose much here because they hold a relatively small 2,778 edge over the Soereds.

If a similar pattern holds true elsewhere, two other constituencies in the southern end of the province, Macleod and Lethbridge, are likewise Social Credit possibilities.

The same cannot be said for Vegreville because last year the Conservatives increased their margin over their 1958 showing. The Social Credit candidate came within 300 votes of losing his deposit.

NOT AS POPULAR

This year's Soereds is not as popular as his predecessor and a check of the traditional Social Credit stronghold of Bruderheim where Tory Frank Fane almost split with his Soereds opponent last June showed little or no switching.

Athabasca, the northernmost seat in the province, is considered the only rural one where Liberals can entertain hopes because of its traditional support of the party and the relatively high percentage of French-Canadians there.

The Liberals could only reduce Conservative Jack Bigg's 1958 margin by 1,000 in 1962. They still have over 4,000 to go. In view of the continuing Diefenbaker strength on the farms, it is difficult to foresee a change here on April 8.

It must be emphasized that outside the urban areas, as in Saskatchewan, the expectation is that Diefenbaker is still going to be able to form a minority government after the election. That this is an important factor holding up positions from the Conservatives that cannot be overestimated.

What about the effect of Real Caouette? Of those who knew anything about him, only one in five was untroubled about his appearance on the Canadian scene. Generally, it was the die-hard Soereds who pointed out, as did a Bruderheim housewife, that "Social Credit did good for us here, so maybe they'll do good for others."

All businessmen were perturbed. The rest of the population, while worried, explained his behavior as being peculiarly French Canadian. A Ponoka cattleman rationalized the situation as follows: "Well, he's under Thompson, isn't he? But he's sure going to drag his share of votes out of that country down there."

The conclusion must be made that the Creditiste phenomenon is not substantially damaging Social Credit here. As a Wetaskiwin housewife stated: "I think Caouette is a nut. This is one of the things that will work against Social Credit. But it's not affecting me. After all, he's not out here."

Of some topical, although probably only passing interest is the instantaneous public reaction against recent Liberal campaign techniques. Throughout the province the Liberals were assailed for their tactics.

GIMMICKS HIT

A housewife, one of 19 lonely Liberals out of some 480 odd voters in the rabidly Soereds area of Bruderheim was dispirited and reflected the general trend: "I don't think the Liberals did themselves any good with that coloring book or the Truth Squad. I heard several people saying they were just about to go for the Liberals and this stopped them. I don't like that kind of politics. They've done too much of that lately. I like people stating their policies and not attacking others."

MANNING DONE WELL

Finally, it is appropriate to comment here in general terms on the reasons for Social Credit success in this province and for the influence of leadership as a vote motivation. There is no denying that Social Credit has little remaining of its former radicalism. It is a middle class party. And there is a genuine belief that Manning has done well for the province.

What strikes the observer here is the appeal of "free enterprise" as a slogan and the frontier-like quality of the environment.

Alberta is one of the "have" provinces and ranks high as one of the areas of Canada, along with British Columbia, Ontario, and Quebec, which have been experiencing a "relative" population increase compared with less fortunate areas, peoples from Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and the Maritimes have been flocking in.

There is little class-consciousness, not only of the European sort (which is to be expected) but also of the type that characterizes such constituencies as Winnipeg North, York South, or Vancouver Kingsway. The entire Alberta urban complex has the appearance of a vast suburbia. This underlines the fact that there was no old city which the population left behind and therefore little tradition from which to change. This situation is intensified by the continuing appearance of new arrivals from outside the province.

This is precisely the type of population which responds readily to leadership appeals and which can be most easily swayed by personal characteristics such as apparent sincerity and public appearance.

In the absence of an effective opponent at this level, John Diefenbaker therefore continues to serve as the bulwark of his party's fortunes and the only stabilizing element for what is inherently an unstable voting population.

Municipalities Split On Dog Tag Boost

Oak Bay is going to have a crackdown on dog owners who haven't bought licences, but Esquimalt Council has not yet made up its mind on the matter.

The SPCA made a recommendation to both municipalities and the City of Victoria for an increase in licence fees. The city turned down the recommendation and Oak Bay approved it. As well Oak Bay asked for the names of any dog owner whose animal is impounded more than once.

Esquimalt Council considered the matter Monday night but left a decision until it meets again in two weeks.

Next January the licence fees for dogs in Oak Bay will increase to $5 for males and spayed females and to $10 for females. Present schedule is $3 and $5.

PORTION OF FEES

The SPCA receives 80 per cent of all fees. A door-to-door selling campaign of dog licences will be made by the SPCA in Oak Bay and in Victoria.

A decision on whether licences should be sold door-to-door in Esquimalt will not be made until after council has decided what action, if any, it will take on the recommendation for a fee increase.

The SPCA wants the licence fee increased in order to have enough income to meet rising costs of operation. A survey in Victoria last year showed that in some areas only one in five dogs are licensed and elsewhere only one in every two owners took out a licence.

CLEAN-UP WEEK

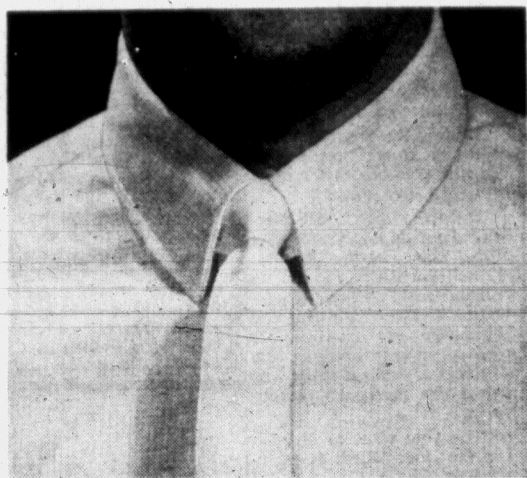

In other business Monday night Esquimalt Council decided Clean-Up Week would take place in the municipality April 22 to 26.

It also decided to declare March 21 and UN Freedom from Hunger Day as had been requested by the Victoria committee of the Voice of Women.

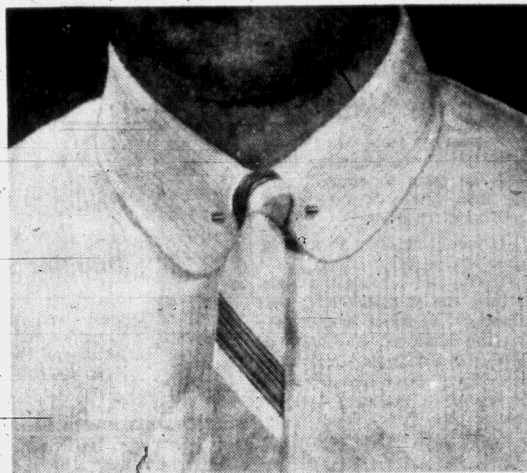

Coin collection cards are to be distributed by the VoW to raise money in support of a UN project in Mysore, India.

The municipal engineer is to report on a rock hazard at Lampson St. and Lampson Place where residents complain blocks the vision of motorists.

THIS IS WHERE they landed — on the desk of Education Minister Leslie Peterson. The rolls contained signatures collected last week by UBC and Victoria College students in support of the Macdonald report on higher education. Looking on are Marilyn McKay of Victoria College and Alf Pettersen, president of the college students' council.

600 Bundles 'Back Mac' on Education Need

By DESMOND BILL
Education Minister Leslie Peterson had a problem literally dumped on his desk this morning.

It covered the desk, spread on the floor and piled up on chairs.

And long after his secretary has cleared away the petitions, collected last weekend by students at University of British Columbia and Victoria College, the problem will remain.

What is the government going to do to implement the Macdonald report on higher education in B.C. and to increase operating grants for the university and the college?

It took eight students, including one girl, to carry the petitions.

They bore the signatures of 230,000 British Columbians, 24,000 of them collected in Greater Victoria and 114,500 in Vancouver.

Mr. Peterson said the public support shown for more money for higher education would help in getting action on the Macdonald Report.

Does the government regard the petition as an attempt to pressure it?

Said Mr. Peterson: "We don't resent any attempt to apply pressure on us."

But he added, "We don't always act on the basis of pressure."

The minister told the student delegation that it is government policy to give the universities as much money as it can afford to meet their needs.

Malcolm Scott, president of UBC Students' Council, told him the students hope the public support demonstrated by the petitions will cause the government to act speedily and to implement the Macdonald Report as quickly as is feasible.

"The Back Mac" campaign, as the students call their project in support of the report, was put over in three days last weekend by 6,000 students at UBC and Victoria College.

The petitions were neatly rolled in 600 bundles, tied with blue and gold bands, and brought to Mr. Peterson's office at 10 a.m. today.

Mr. Peterson jokingly asked the delegation why the petitions were addressed to the government and not just to him.

Said he: "This means I have to bring all the petitions to the cabinet. How am I going to carry them all?"

City's Budget Chopped By $230,000

City finance committee today wound up two days of preliminary sifting of budget estimates after cutting out about $230,000.

That still leaves an initial increase of about $985,000 over last year's budget but much of this will melt next week when public works committee takes its first run at the estimates.

When committees have finished, the remainder is sent to city council for the final chopping operations before the mill rate is set in May.

Most of the finance committee cuts were made in the fire department—lopping off $150,000 in one stroke by rejecting a proposal to build a fourth fire hall in the Quadra-Hillside area.

A small, but significant cut, was made this morning in wiping out a $250 scholarship for a Victoria student at Victoria College interested in physical education.

FOR FIVE YEARS
The scholarship—due to run for five years—was set up by city council after the 1959 royal visit in response to Prince Philip's expressed interest in physical fitness.

But it never has been claimed by a qualified applicant and committee decided it was pointless in carrying it on the books.

Another cut of $12,143 was achieved by deferring for one year the first of five annual payments to the Royal Jubilee Hospital's laboratory and student nurse residence expansion which are not expected to get underway until 1964.

The brief adds that, if ambulance services are to be left in private hands, some financial support will probably be necessary.

"Out of concern for the protection of the public, we would urge that immediate action be taken on these points. If this is done, we believe British Columbia may lead the way in providing proper ambulance service to all of our people."

Ambulance Service Badly Needed

An adequate ambulance service is badly needed in British Columbia, says the B.C. Federation of Labor in a brief to Health Minister Eric Martin and members of the legislature.

Such a service is essential for the public welfare, says the brief, and should be regulated by the Public Utilities Commission "or some similarly appropriate body" to ensure proper standards.

"Availability of service and quality of equipment and personnel must be guaranteed. Ambulance crews should be required to consist of two trained, experienced and, wherever possible, full-time men."

NORMAL HOURS
"Normal hours of work must be guaranteed to protect the physical and mental well-being of personnel. We urge the establishment of a 40-hour week and adequate minimum wage protection."

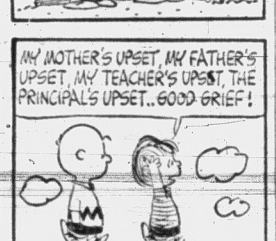

The brief adds that, if ambulance services are to be left in private hands, some financial support will probably be necessary.

"Out of concern for the protection of the public, we would urge that immediate action be taken on these points. If this is done, we believe British Columbia may lead the way in providing proper ambulance service to all of our people."

Car Driver Leaves Scene of Accident

City police today are investigating a car accident which occurred on Douglas and Bay at 10:22 p.m. Thursday.

The driver and a woman in the car vanished from the scene on foot before police arrived to investigate. The fuel tank of the B.C. Hydro bus was damaged by the impact.

PERCY RAYMENT ... to turn first sod

Union Hall Ceremony On Monday

Veteran trade unionist A. Percy Raymond will turn the first sod in the construction of the new Labor Temple at 10 a.m. Monday.

Contract for the new building at Market and Quadra has been awarded to Patterson Construction. Initial amount of the contract is $144,600 and the final figure is expected to be about $150,000.

The new union headquarters is expected to be officially opened on Labor Day this fall. It will replace the union headquarters at 615 Pandora which are to be leased or sold.

Mr. Raymond, general manager of Victoria Building Co-operative Union, said about $30,000 is still needed in pledges from unions to buy shares in the new headquarters.

He said that although construction is starting immediately the financing won't be completed until the extra shares are taken up.

He said it is urgent that the financing arrangements be completed and appealed to all unions to pledge to buy more shares.

Children's Physician Dies Here

Dr. Jay I. Durand, a pioneer in pediatrics in the Puget Sound area, died in his sleep Thursday, aged 85.

Dr. Durand practised in Seattle for 40 years and was chief of pediatric services at Children's Orthopedic Hospital.

He established the first child outpatient clinic there.

Dr. Durand was one of the organizers of the American Academy of Pediatrics in 1930 and served as president of its 4,100-member doctors in 1945-46.

He was made an honorary member of the medical staffs of Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals when he came to Victoria to retire in 1954.

SURVIVORS

He is survived by the widow, Gertrude; a daughter, Mrs. James Munro of Victoria; a son, Douglas H. Green of Toronto; a sister, Mrs. Frederick Bradbury; a niece, Miss Mary Eleanor Bradbury of Los Angeles; and a nephew, Frederick Bradbury of Avenal, Calif.

Funeral services will be held in McCall's chapel Tuesday at 2 p.m. Cremation will follow.

Mayor, Minister Protest Bombs

Navy Criticized For Beach Danger

By PETE LOUDON

The Victoria bomb scare today exploded into protests against RCN-RCAF operation in Victoria offshore waters.

Victoria M.L.A., Works Minister W. N. Chant and Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson each proposed that steps be taken to keep dangerous war games debris off Victoria beaches.

Their comments followed an RCN statement Thursday that four smoke bombs and four flares have been found this week, drifted ashore.

At the same time, news stories about findings of live bombs throughout B.C. and the deaths of two Boy Scouts who struck one with an axe at Vernon last week, have caused a flurry of attic searching.

RCN bomb disposal experts today are investigating these reports to their offices:

9:30 a.m.—Two bombs found on the downtown navy shore patrol office.

9:31 a.m.—A bomb reported at 1230 Fairfield Road.

9:30 a.m.—A shell awaiting pickup at 3268 Bellevue.

10 a.m.—Another shell at 3510 Calumet.

10:02—Another bomb at 335 Niagara.

BOMB DOORSTOP

An Esquimalt family, Mrs. Kathleen Grier and her sons James 11, and Michael 8, 1171 Lockley, reported Thursday that they were using a shell as a doorstep.

The navy found it was loaded with enough explosive to destroy their home—and them with it.

Also Thursday, it was learned that another live bomb found at 1033 Inverness, had been used by two boys in a game of catch.

Most of the items are classed as souvenirs—the kind apt to make a lasting impression in the landscape.

Many of the "live shells" reported turn out to be duds—defused and explosive charges removed. One call to the navy resulted in the delicate examination of an old lipstick tube.

ON BEACHES

But the items worrying the civic and government leaders are the smoke bombs and flares washed up on local beaches.

Mayor Wilson said: "We should make some approach to the navy. They should make these items so they sink when they don't go off—or ask the navy to find a new area (for war games)."

Mr. Chant said: "There must be a better way. Some child is going to be killed. It is up to the navy to correct this danger to life and limb."

The navy, which has spearheaded the campaign for public safety and now is a target for criticism, said through

AIR HAMMER RACKET MEANS TREES TO COME

Jackhammers were pounding out a new kind of spring sound on downtown Douglas Street's sidewalks today.

Spaces were being cut in the sidewalk for planting of about 50 trees the first to sprout in the commercial area as part of this year's civic beautification program.

Underground wire ducts and other facilities have forced the parks department to stagger the tree locations instead of lining them up as uniform ranks on both sides of the street.

JAYCEE IDEAL

Fair Lady Sought For Fair

Who is the ideal Victoria girl?

The Jaycees are looking for her.

They want to crown her Miss Victoria at their annual Miss Victoria Pageant during the Jaycee Fair May 13 to 18.

Already they have their eye on two contenders for the title.

They are 18-year-old Judy Jacquard of 956 Judah St. and Ann Rainsford, 19, of 1112 Finlayson Ave., pictured below.

But the Jaycees expect about 20 more young women will enter the contest. One year recently there were 55 candidates.

Any single attractive girl between 18 and 26 years of age is eligible. They must have completed grade 11, have good character and possess poise, personality and beauty of face and figure.

Further information may be obtained from Doug Webb at 383-0744 or 477-4342 or from Win Garcin at 382-6111, local 2564, or 383-1484.

Ask The Times

Q. If a person sends a Canadian money order for $1 to France, how many francs would the recipient receive for it? H.L.

A. They would receive four francs plus some change. A French franc is worth 22.07 cents in Canadian money.

Q. Would you please tell me where I should write for information on obtaining an amateur radio licence?

A. Address inquiries to: Inspector, Radio Regulations, Department of Transport, 805 Government Street, Victoria, B.C.

FIRST CONTENDERS for the title of Miss Victoria are Judy Jacquard, 18, of 956 Judah St., at left, and Ann Rainsford, 19, of 1112 Finlayson Avenue. Along with an expected 20 other candidates they will enter the contest seeking the ideal Victoria girl during the Victoria Jaycee Fair May 13 to 18. The competition is open to single, attractive girls between the ages of 18 and 26. Contestants will be judged not only on looks and figure but also on personality and talent.

Monte Roberts

I wish to pretend to congratulate the lovely ladies who work on behalf of the 2nd Victoria Troop of Boy Scouts.

The reason for this pretense is I have heard of the imaginary tea and bazaar the ladies plan for 4 p.m., Tuesday, April 2.

Not April 1, mind you, April 2.

If you do not know what an imaginary tea and bazaar might be, there is no need to hang your head in shame. I did not know, either, until the ladies explained it to me.

This imaginary tea and bazaar is a method to raise funds for the 2nd Port Victoria Group Committee, and it has several distinct advantages over a regular tea and bazaar:

1. You do not have to attend.
2. You do not have to waste your valuable time baking for it, producing articles for sale, working in a booth, arranging for sitters or expending time, money and effort getting to the hall. (For ladies who work the booths there is an added feature—they don't have to buy back their own baking.)
3. You will be supporting a worthwhile cause the easy way.

All the group committee asks is that those willing to support the imaginary bazaar brew themselves a cup of tea, call up a neighbor and gossip for half an hour while sipping tea, then mail a donation to the group treasurer.

You see why I am so happy to pretend to congratulate the ingenious devisers of the imaginary bazaar?

I have long held a suspicion that our old friend of more courtly days, RSVP, has fallen upon lean times.

It seems to me that dear old RSVP, while still appearing in the lower left-hand corner of neatly-printed cards, doesn't command the respect he used to.

In other words, people just don't RS and VP any more. People receive invitations, and they either go to the affair or don't go to the affair, without taking the trouble to acknowledge the invitation.

This suspicion about the decline of RSVP was confirmed with the receipt this week of an invitation to the acceptance ceremony of the new government ferry, MV Queen of Esquimalt.

The invite, of course, carries the initials RSVP.

Not only that, the invite specifies a date for RSVPing. And, in addition, the invite supplies a phone number to save the trouble of writing a letter or note.

Also, enclosed with the invite is a printed notice, saying, somewhat plaintively:

"It will be appreciated if you will reply to your RSVP notice by March 22 as the invitation list will close on that date."

Loosely translated, meaning: "Reply if you please, but please reply."

I hope the B.C. Toll Authority will let me know how it makes out.

Topics of the Day

A 14-year-old boy knocked from his bicycle at 8:25 a.m. today while on the way to school was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken leg and other undetermined injuries.

He was undergoing an operation at press time.

Police said Richard Poole, 235 Wilson, was riding east on Wilson and turning left on to Springfield when he collided with the rear of a trailer-truck being driven south on Springfield by Robert Kennedy, 3015 Admirals.

New slate of officers elected at a recent annual meeting of the Senior Citizens Campaign Council of Greater Victoria include: C. Thompson, president; A. C. Gildemeester, vice-president; secretary, Mrs. A. McVie; treasurer, C. Alexander; sergeant-at-arms, E. Elliott.

DOUBLE MURDER

Juvenile Committed To Essondale

A youth scheduled to appear in juvenile court today on a charge of "delinquency" in connection with the capital murder of George and Helene Bickford, has been committed to Essondale Mental Hospital by an order-in-council.

The Bickfords died of gunshot wounds. They were both found dead on Feb. 13 in their home behind the Shelbourne Plaza shopping centre. A coroner's inquest will continue April 1.

Victoria branch, B.C. Government Employees' Association, will hold its spring dance March 29 at 9 p.m. at Crystal Garden.

Both dance floors will be used and two bands will be in attendance.

Tickets will be available at the door for employees and their friends.

Greater Victoria looks good in the running water field but not of stinks when it comes to sewers, according to the 1961 census breakdown received by Capital Planning Board.

CRPB said of 17 metropolitan areas, we stood third from the top in the percentage of houses with running water, 99.1 per cent.

But we stood fourth from the bottom with the percentage of unsewered lots requiring septic tanks standing at 27 per cent.

Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council meets tonight at 8 in North Ward School auditorium.

A hungry thief stole into a Sussex Hotel room overnight and made off with sacks of vegetables.

He also stole $124 cash from the pants pocket of a man who was sleeping in the same room.

The victim of the robbery who gave his name as I. Michelson, told police three plastic bags containing potatoes, onions and carrots were taken from a cupboard in the room while he was sleeping.

The cash was taken from his pants lying near the bed where he slept.

"A" group of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Dumbarton Road, off Munn Road.

The Nature House at Francis Park will be open on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. "Nature Walks" will be held during the afternoon.

Mrs. Dorothy Abraham will speak on "This Changing World" Monday at 3 p.m. at a meeting of the British-Israel Society in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street.

Belmont High School Association will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the school.

The meeting will be followed by a student gymnastic and tumbling display.

THE ELECTION TRAIL

Liberals, NDP, Seek Labor Debate

Victoria Liberal campaigners are trying to re-schedule an election debate at a Victoria Labor Council meeting.

Liberal candidate David Groos said it was previously planned that the four major parties would each participate—but Social Credit and Conservative candidates refused to attend and the meeting was cancelled.

Now Mr. Groos is hoping it will proceed with he and NDP candidate Harry Fanthorpe sharing the platform.

"We shouldn't be denied the chance to appear before a labor audience because of the reluctance of two other parties," said Mr. Groos.

"The Liberals want to find out what we can for the trade union movement."

Chairman will be Herbert Anson. Co-speaker will be federal Works Minister E. Davie Fulton.

Mr. Anson, once B.C. Tory leader, finance minister in the Coalition government, an ex-reeve of Oak Bay, an ex-mayor of Victoria and once a Victoria M.L.A., comes out of political retirement to accept the duty.

Mr. Fulton arrives with the prime minister at Patricia Bay airport 3 p.m. Monday.

The party comes here after a Nanaimo luncheon where Mr. Fulton joins the prime minister after a Saturday tour of Comox-Alberni points—Campbell River, Courtenay, Qualicum and Alberni.

There will be an informal reception for the top party brass at Empress Hotel. The prime minister will dine privately with Mrs. Diefenbaker.

His speech at Bay Street Armoury is slated for 8 p.m.

Planning to be out of your own riding on election day? If so you must cast your ballot at an advance poll before leaving.

Locations of advance polls are listed on the section of voters' list mailed to each family or individual now on the list.

Advance polling takes place March 30 and April 1 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, Victoria Social Credit candidate in the federal election, was stymied by brother-alderman Thursday in a bid to hood meters in front of his Douglas Street campaign office.

He got a flat no.

Premier Bennett will re-enter the Victoria campaign on behalf of Ald. Mooney.

The premier will be keynote speaker April 3 at a Sacred meeting at Central Junior High at 8 p.m.

James Audain, meeting organizer for Oak Bay Sacreds, said the premier will make a major policy address.

Esquimalt-Saanich Social Credit campaigners will tour areas where they have erected posters.

A spokesman for candidate Edward Lum said vandals are still tearing down party posters. Police were asked to assist last week.

Mr. Lum today corrected a morning report that he would appear tonight at Gordon Head School. There is no meeting scheduled.

DEAR ABBY

An Equal Task!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three sons, and I've heard many other mothers say, "You are lucky you have boys. You don't have to worry the way mothers of daughters do." Abby, this burns me up. They think if a girl gets in trouble it's her funeral, and boys don't create any problems, no matter what they do. What can I say to let them know they are dead wrong?

MOTHER OF BOYS

DEAR MOTHER: People who make such thoughtless remarks should be told that when a girl "gets in trouble" the parents of the boy who is responsible are just as heart-sick as the girl's parents. And, furthermore, since the males are supposedly the natural aggressors, the job of raising decent and disciplined boys is certainly equal to that of raising well-behaved girls.

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you asking you to put me in touch with a man signed FLORIDA, who was looking for a wife. He sounded just right for me and I know we could have made a wonderful match. I was terribly disappointed when you wrote back saying that as a matter of policy you did not put people in touch with each other through your column. Why do you have such a policy when you could get so many nice people together?

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: You would be more disappointed were I to abandon my policy and get one "nice" person (you) together with one who was not so nice. I can't investigate everyone who writes to me. So rather than pair a lamb with a wolf, I stick to my policy.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is right for parents to permit two children under ten years of age to watch the dog give birth to a litter of puppies? I just got a phone call that my daughter-in-law thought it was all right, and my son approved it. I would like to know what you think of letting children watch this procedure.

SHOCKED: I know of no better way for young people to learn about the beginning of life, which is a subject baffling to youngsters, and not easy for elders to explain.

DEAR ABBY: Cheers for BOTHED, and her comment on "My, you look nice TODAY." The next most complimentary compliment when I'm all dressed up is, "Is that NEW?"

TWICE BOTHED.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Joseph Warr, 534 Taylor Road, announce the coming marriage of their only daughter Sandra Bernice, to Mr. Graham Bruce Wachter, son of Mrs. E. J. Hopkins, Redwood City, Calif., and the late Tolmie J. Wachter, Victoria. The wedding will take place on April 11 at 7 p.m., in St. Mary's the Virgin Church, Metcheson, with Dr. A. W. R. Ashley officiating.

Eddy-Hazell Wedding

Yellow daffodils and white gladioli decorated Centennial United Church, Saturday evening when Gail Evelyn Hazell exchanged vows with Robert Clifford Eddy in a double-ring ceremony. Dr. S. J. Parsons officiated. Soloist, J. E. MacLeod sang, "O Perfect Love."

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hazell, 1217 Vista Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Eddy, 2672 Millstream Road.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon over tulle with a lace bodice embroidered in seed pearls. Appliques of the same lace highlighted the bouffant skirt. Nylon edging trimmed the short sleeves and the neckline was scalloped. A circle of pearls held a fingertip veil of nylon net. Ivy leaves adorned the bouquet of yellow roses and white freesia.

The bride was escorted by her father. The bridesmaids wore turquoise gowns of tulle and silk organza over tulle. They were chosen by the bride, Mrs. Bob Aylward, bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Eddy and bridesmaid, Mrs. Richard Lawson.

Their gowns were finished with cummerbunds and jackets. White cardenias trimmed the necklines and yellow and white carnations were in their bouquets.

A bandeau of white flowers complemented a similar gown worn by flower girl, Terrilyn

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Taller Than He Is? Check Before Putting on Heels

Q "If I wear high-heels, I am taller than my husband. Should I wear flats all the time and never feel 'dressed up'?" I hate to see a woman taller than a man and yet I LOVE heels. I'll be watching the paper real soon for your answer. Please hurry up!"

A I think this really depends on how your husband feels about it. You will have to weigh whether you feel better in heels and a bit taller, or in flats and about the same height as your husband. Just recently I wrote about the tall woman and suggested that it is not necessary for her to go about in flats. Many men do not object at all to dating or marrying a woman who is taller than they. However, if your husband feels differently there are many dressy, shaped, low heels.

Q "I have a skin problem. I went to the doctor six months ago and he told me to leave certain items out of my diet. I have done that faithfully. I have blackheads, some of which turn into pimples. I have used several kinds of soap. Sometimes when I wash my face in the morning my face has red spots on it. I wonder if the soap is too strong? Please help me!"

A. It is possible you are al-

lertic to the soap you are using. If so, there are several lines of cosmetics and soaps which will be useful to you.

Usually blackheads turn into pimples when you squeeze them or pick them. If you squeeze them at all, steam the face first. Then, disinfect the spot with alcohol before and afterwards. Also, use sterile gauze beneath your fingers. Apply only gentle pressure.

Q "I have become quite concerned over a few coarse hairs growing on my neck and jawbone area. These are very unsightly. Since I am a brunette, bleaching is not the answer. What is? My doctor just brushes it off as a cosmetic defect."

A There is no reason to brush off a cosmetic defect which can easily be remedied. Since you have only a few of these hairs and they are coarse, you can easily remove them with tweezers. If this seems too laborious have them removed permanently with electrolysis. Locate a competent electrolysis by asking a skin specialist to recommend one.

Spring Means Many Things—But to Penny It's Rhubarb

By PENNY SAVER

There is only one food item that I associate with spring exclusively—rhubarb. Either stewed or in pie, it's the familiar spring dish, but there is no reason to restrict these tangy stalks to the same old tried and true recipes.

Here is a recipe I found last year. It's delicious! Cut the rhubarb up as for stewing, but instead of adding water add the juice of one or two oranges. Take another orange, cut into sections and add. Add sugar to taste and, remember, it won't need as much as without the oranges.

Cook in top of a double boiler until soft, but not mushy. It takes longer to cook than the quick boil method so don't get impatient.

Another way to serve rhubarb is in soup. Fruit soup is strange to many of us on this continent, but to Europeans it is a known and welcome dish served either as a first course or dessert, accompanied with crackers or cookies.

To make soup add one quart of water to two pounds of rhubarb, cut up as for stewing, and cook until soft. Strain the fruit and the juice through a sieve and return to heat. Stir in one tablespoon of cornstarch mixed with cold water and sweeten to taste. Simmer for five minutes stirring constantly with a wooden spoon. Whip half a cup of cream and combine with the yolk of one egg. Next stir the hot soup into the whipped cream and serve with cookies, or, if you wish, chill the soup and top with cream.

If your own backyard patch of rhubarb isn't high enough for eating there is plenty of hothouse rhubarb selling at 29 cents a pound.

While shopping Penny noticed a few other items you might like to pick up for the weekend. Delicious leeks that are grown locally were piled high and selling at two bunches for 29 cents. Local parsnips are on special this weekend at 10 cents a pound.

Another special is a five-pound bag of nine to 10 grapefruit for 49 cents. They are the white juicy variety grown in the Coachella Valley in California.

Want to know where to shop? Phone Penny at 382-3131.

OPEN-FACE EGG-SALMON BUNWICH

Two teaspoons butter, 6 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1/2 teaspoon each of crumbled tarragon and sweet basil, 6 tablespoons water, 1 can 7 1/2-oz. salmon, salad dressing to moisten, 2 teaspoons finely chopped onion, 5 or 6 split buttered hamburger buns, 1 cup grated cheese paprika.

Melt butter in medium-sized frying pan. Sprinkle salt, pepper, tarragon and sweet basil into pan and stir around. Beat eggs and water together just enough to mix yolks and whites but not make eggs too frothy. Pour into pan and scramble over low heat stirring frequently until eggs are cooked but still just slightly moist.

Drain salmon and remove skin. Flake salmon but do not mash, crush fish bones and add with the onion and enough salad dressing to moisten. It required, add a few drops of vinegar or lemon juice to mixture to add zest.

Carefully combine hot

scrambled eggs and salmon mixture. Pile lightly on halved and buttered hamburger buns. Top with grated cheese and a sprinkling of paprika. Place under hot broiler for a few minutes to melt cheese. Serve it at once. Yields five to six servings depending upon how thickly the filling is piled on each bun half. Serve with celery, carrot and/or turnip sticks and pickles. For a lighter snack, smaller flat dinner buns may be used in place of the hamburger buns.

BE SMART—

Give rouge a chance to do things to your face... it can be much more than a blush to your cheeks. After years

Then with same finger, gently swipe a breath of pink just under the eyebrow for bright, glowing eyes. It really works.

Lieutenant-Governor at Dinner

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will be in Vancouver tonight to attend the annual provincial Boy Scout dinner in Hotel Vancouver. Cmdr. J. Roberts is aide-de-camp.

The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will have as weekend guests at Government House, Air Marshal C. R. Dunlap, CBE, CD., and Mrs. Dunlap and on Saturday evening will give a dinner in their honor.

Next Friday evening the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will give a dinner at Government House for the recently-appointed Consul-General of the United States and Mrs. Avery F. Peterson.

Hawaiian Party

Guests were dressed Hawaiian-style when Mr. and Mrs. Drift-McCaghey gave a Hawaiian "luau" in their Crestview Road home on Thursday evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Stone, who leave for Honolulu on Saturday. Refreshments featured dishes from the islands. Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Victor Woodland, Dr. and Mrs. R. Hosie, Dr. and Mrs. E. Gill, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wirtanen, Mr. and Mrs. George Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fairclough, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Dowell, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cameron and Mrs. M. Meraw.

Hockey Dance

There will be 120 guests when the Vancouver Island Ladies' Field Hockey Association hold a dance in the W.A. Amputations Hall this evening. Dress will be semi-formal and guests will dance to the music of Joan O'Neill's orchestra. The affair has been arranged to raise funds to send a Victoria player on a 40-day tour of the United States and Canada next September.

Visits Sister

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Carlson of Calgary, who have been here visiting, Mrs. Carlson's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Climenhaga, at their home on Newport Avenue, will leave this weekend to return to their home in Alberta.

Last Dance

There will be 400 guests when the ship's company of HMCS Ottawa holds a dance in the Club Sirocco this evening. This will be the last dance planned before the ship decommissions in May. Special guests at the affair will be the commanding officer, Cmdr. I. A. McPherson; Mrs. McPherson, other ship's officers and their wives. Prior to attending the dance, guests will gather for dinner in several city restaurants. Dress will be semi-formal.

Tea Hostesses

Miss Marie Rain and her mother, Mrs. R. Rain, entertained at a tea in their East Maddock Avenue home in honor of bride-elect, Miss Shirley Smith. Decorations were in Irish theme and guest of honor was presented with an Irish doll, made with a rolling-pin and green dish cloths in addition to white carnations en corsage, a table lamp and two throw cushions. Her mother, Mrs. G. Smith, received red rosebuds. Also attending were Mrs. W. Creed, Mrs. W. Spedding, Mrs. R. Irvine, Mrs. E. Simmons, Mrs. J. Rogers, Mrs. A. Scroggs, Mrs. F. Ball, Mrs. P. Moran, Mrs. S. Holm and the Misses Janet Blunt, Lorraine Spedding and Linda Ball.

From Mainland

Mrs. Bill Blitch, Mrs. Violet Hogg and Mr. and Mrs. B. Davis came from Vancouver to attend the wedding of Miss Gail Hazell and Mr. Robert Eddy. Nanaimo guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. Young, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hunter, Mr. Wilbert Hunter, Mrs. Maude Hackwood and Mr. and Mrs. C. Hackwood.

Pictured as they enjoy improving their skill on the putting green at their Santa Barbara hotel are Cmdr. and Mrs. H. E. G. Andreae, Beach Drive, Victoria. They have been vacationing at the southern resort. (Santa Barbara Baltimore photo.)

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mouat, who have lived at Ganges on Salt Spring Island ever since they were married in Saint John, N.B., 50 years ago, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Tuesday with "open house" in Ganges United Church hall, for relatives and friends. Both are still active workers in the community. At last Sunday morning's service in the church the couple was honored by the congregation when Rev. Norah Hughes presented them with an inscribed leather-bound hymnal. A similar volume was presented to the church in their honor. (A. M. Sharp Photo.)

Dublin Lass With Vatican Radio

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mark up another first for a woman in a world traditionally masculine.

Ellish Johnston, a blue-eyed blonde colleen from Dublin, is the first woman to become a regular newscaster on the Vatican radio in Rome.

She said the idea of varying the voices of the station for the Vatican state came from Jesuit Father Thomas O'Donnell, himself an Irishman, who heads the station's English language department.

"I don't know what he had to go through to get a woman's voice on the air," she said in an interview. "Maybe it was just the first time anyone had thought of it."

Miss Johnston, in New York on a business trip, explained that the radio job is a part-time one for which she is paid. Her regular job is as a sales representative in Rome for Irish International Airlines. She has been with the airlines in Italy since 1958, and doing the Vatican broadcasts since last August.

She is on the air three times a week for 14 minutes each—doing an English language broadcast beamed to Europe, Africa, and the Middle East, and rebroadcast for Australia and New Zealand.

She has nothing to do with the content of scripts, but does the translation from Italian into English of what a news staff already has prepared. Other newscasters work the same way, she said, and in all some 30 languages are broadcast.

Miss Johnston said she is strictly a voice to her listeners—"there is no personal identification of the announcer. And no commercials." Content of the programs include news in Vatican City, of the Christian world, and general news, she said.

The 30-year-old broadcaster is one of five children, the daughter of an Irish civil servant now retired, and living at Dunlaoghaire, not far from Dublin. Two brothers work in West Africa, one of them as a newsman in Beirut. Her only sister is married and lives in Dublin.

Miss Johnston is a graduate of Dominican College, Dublin, and has studied languages in Naples, Paris and Rome. She speaks English without a brogue—"you'll rarely hear a brogue in Dublin," she said. "It's said that the purest English is spoken there."

F and CS Officers Elected

Mrs. A. E. (Bill) Cooper was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary to Family and Children's Service, at annual meeting held in Spencerhouse.

Other officers are Mrs. Kenneth Young, first vice-president; Mrs. W. F. Hibbert, second vice-president; Mrs. J. E. Brown, recording secretary and Mrs. G. L. Hunter, treasurer.

Committee conveners named were Mrs. T. Ireland, purchasing and tea; Mrs. R. W. Emerson, knitting; Mrs. T. Hartnell and Mrs. R. H. Patterson, sewing; Mrs. R. Holland, membership; Mrs. F. M. Waller, penny fund and Mrs. M. Ferriday, publicity.

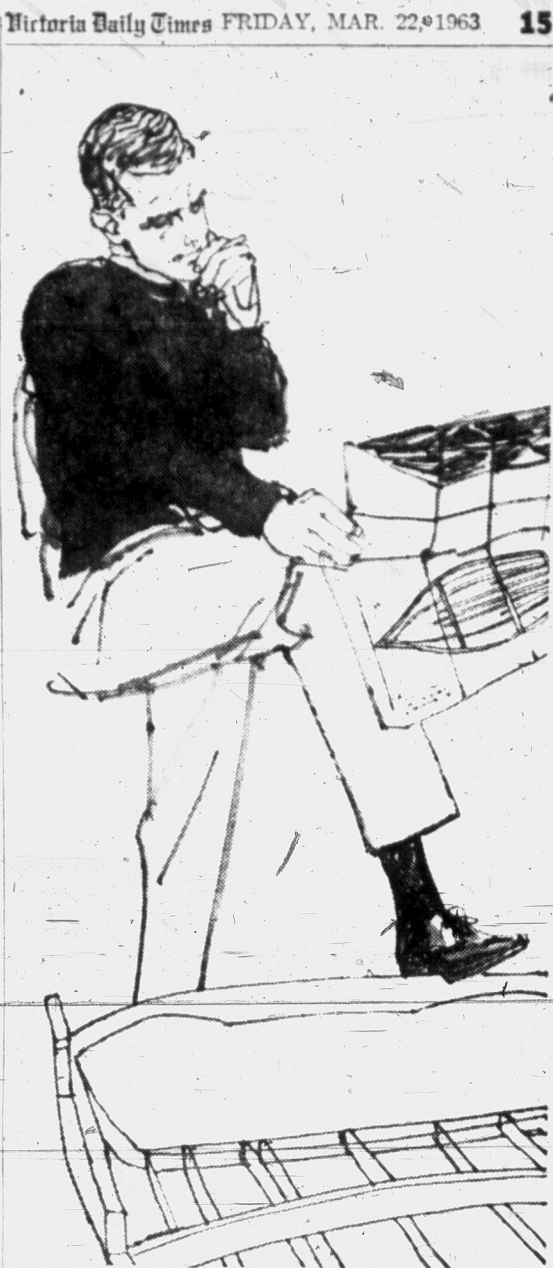

Reports showed a membership of 57, active and associate. A sum of $2,352 was raised in the year, mainly from two events, a Spring Riddo and a Christmas Festival of Decorations.

At the meeting a sum of $378 was voted toward purchase of furnishings for a special foster home, for layette materials, transportation, and gifts for foster children.

Miss Constance Holmes, F and CS board president brought greetings and Gordon Wright, executive director spoke briefly. It was decided that the auxiliary would serve refreshments at the annual meeting of the board on April 18.

Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. Thomas Crawford and Mrs. L. H. Bley.

Men who get the most out of life like Brown Jug.

Brown Jug appeals to the man who builds his own boat. The man who knows a good thing when he sees it. The man who looks for quality and value in everything he buys. Brown Jug is the light, bright whisky. It's charcoal filtered for extra smoothness. A lot of people think it's the best for their taste. Try Brown Jug Whisky soon. We're sure you'll like it.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Cassidy Clay awakened my taste for fine literature, so I sought out Goodman Ace, the highest paid TV writer—the one who creates those funny lines for Perry Como—which Perry throws out—and inquired what he'll be doing next year now that Perry'll work much less.

"I," stated Goodie, whose rate is reputed to be $300 a word, "will go on unemployment." (Mink and Cadillac sections, probably.)

"Are you a possible Judy Garland scripper?"

"I'm possible Judy's impossible," he shrugged eloquently. He has many offers to do specials.

Goodie's always meeting people exclaiming how wonderful the Perry Como show is—and he says, "Really? I'm sorry I always miss it."

He sees it through all preparatory stages, so often does miss the air version—when sometimes somebody's deleted his favorite line.

"Enter Laughing" is a big hit. Alan Arkin, a N.Y. boy, is a smash. The B.W.'s comment: "It's a sleeper—that'll keep you awake." Peggy Cass says her diet consists only of plain soda. "But I'm so hungry I've got a headache," she told her medic who pleasantly replied, "So take aspirin." ... Jed Harris, interviewed about his book, "Watchman: What of the Night?" insisted that drama critics never prevented a show from being a hit. He wouldn't be worried about facing them again. "I never paid any attention to them before—why should I now?" he says. ... Jane Wyman's having gall bladder surgery.

Ben Hecht's filming a picture in N.Y. soon all by himself titled "The Empty Coffin." All actors willing to work cheap, for a boss who's a genius, may apply. Hecht says it won't have any boss. "And that's my idea of a party," he says. "Making a movie without any boss."

Those Easter bonnets will be around soon—reminding me of Mark Dawson's line in "The Riot Act" when he plucks up a lady's enormously flowered hat from her head and says, "Look, shouldn't we put this in water?"

says he'll pay Liz Taylor a million for "I Love Louisa," but insiders say the dickering hasn't begun yet. ... Dick Jock Art Ford will wed writer Renee Simmons.

Prince Peter of Greece told at the Eden Roc how he'd slipped his escorts and gone shopping alone here. ... Ingrid Bergman's dtr Pia is a reporter for Paris Match. Is one of the huge publicity outfits moving in on Igor Cassini's Martial public relations company?

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: The best way for a New Yorker to meet his neighbor (claims Robert Q. Lewis) is to play the TV set too loud at 1 a.m.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The trouble with some modern kitchens is that they don't have old-fashioned housewives in them.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: The bravest sound in the world is a puppy's bark from under the porch—Anonymous.

EARL'S PEARLS: Behind every rich and successful man is a woman—trying to marry him.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL ...

Duke Ellington's in a Paris hospital—pneumonia. ... Meg Myles looked great at the "Enter Laughing" party at Leone's, in a dress she'd made herself between acts in Philadelphia. (Someone cracked, "Well, that's something to do in Philadelphia.") ... Edith Piaf and groom Theo Sarapo'll fly here for singer Charles Aznavour's concert March 30. ... Director J. Lee Thompson

SOLUTION MONDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books—or other interesting prizes—ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions suggested by readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Armando Bernal, age 12, of Tucson, Ariz., for his question:

How do snakes hear?

Maybe you have seen movies of a dancing cobra. The hooded snake usually weaves his graceful body from side to side to the rhythm of a flute—or so it seems. True, the snake is moving and maybe in time with the music, but the flute music has nothing to do with it.

We are never surprised to learn that various magic shows are full of tricks. Maybe the cobra dancing gracefully to the flute of the snake charmer is not what it seems to be. You could search and search for a month and never detect a single trick. Nevertheless, there is one. But you would never, never guess what it is.

The dancing cobra is stone deaf. He does not hear a single note of the flute music.

Snake's Body Picks Up Sound

In the distant past, snakes may have had hearing organs like those of their lizard ancestors. But they have long since been sealed and useless inside their bony heads. All snakes are deaf, because there is no way for air to reach what remains of their ears. And the flute music and other sounds travel to normal hearing organs through and by means of the air.

Some sounds travel through solid objects by vibrations. If you bang a drum, you can feel the throbbing pulses of sound on the drum head. It is most likely that the snake is able to feel such vibrations with his body. As he slithers along, his snakey body may be picking up the vibrations of footsteps. But he cannot hear a thing with his ears.

Most snakes spend their time on the ground crawling along through stones, sand and tangled grasses. This is hard on a snake's eyes. But his glassy eyes are always open and he never blinks—or so it seems. Actually, his eyes are always shut. For his eyelids are sealed window panes of transparent skin. Behind them, the snakey eyes move back and forth.

Andy sends a Hammond's Library World Atlas to Patricia Nightingale, age 9, of Canandaigua, N.Y., for her question: Does the compass point south below the equator?

Wherever it is, the magnetic compass points out both the north and the south direction. It is a slender needle which is a straight line. If one end of a straight line points due north, then the opposite end must be pointing due south.

Nothing at all happens to change this fact when a magnetic compass crosses the equator. One end of the magnetic needle still points to the earth's north magnetic pole; the opposite end still points to the earth's south magnetic pole.

Canada Mere Stopping Place 'on the Road'

Canada is "like an inn where hunters and fishermen stop, spend their money, but have no intention of settling," an East Indian professor of mathematics and physics from Victoria College told Regentians Thursday.

Asked to speak on the subject, "My Impressions of Canada," the young professor apologized to the local club for his observations but added:

"I am a scientist and must be frank. I always try to come to the point."

At the educational level, Professor Gandhi said that Canadians did not seem to be much interested in research. He praised the Macdonald report for emphasizing its value, and said that Victoria University could not attain the status of a Princeton or a Harvard unless it dedicated itself to the principles of research.

While praising the "gorgeous" scenery of this country, the speaker had found Canadians in places like London, Ont., and Kapuskasing rather insular in their outlook and liable to spend most of their time talking about NHL hockey players or TV.

DISCRIMINATION
"People have told me that there is little discrimination in Canada. While this may be true, I suspect it is because there are comparatively few nationals of foreign countries around."

"I have more admiration for the United States than Canada in this respect, particularly with regard to their treatment of foreigners. In the States, the people try to be friendly. In Canada, there does not seem to be much interest in Africans or Indians."

Professor Gandhi found politics "in a bit of chaos" because the public found it hard to distinguish between parties.

He said that a Vancouver newspaper report found one and a half million persons, eligible to become Canadian citizens, who had not bothered to take out papers—"a very depressing attitude."

"It's not an excuse to say that Canada is a young country. There is something lacking here."

THEN GO HOME
"People come here, stop at the inn, make their money, and then go home. It is impossible for a foreigner to get the feel of Canada in less than two years. All their impressions in that time will be superficial."

At the same time, the speaker said, Canada's reputation abroad was high. He believed this stemmed "from Diefenbaker and other politicians" because of the stand they had taken on fundamental freedoms at the Commonwealth Conference, which saw South Africa withdraw under criticism from other countries.

The Rotary club in his home city of Bombay described as "beyond the means of the average man," with a fee of $50. He thought that granting of one or two scholarships was "a waste of time and money" because they didn't provide enough time for detailed study and understanding of a foreign country.

Professor Gandhi's speech, was a special feature of "International Understanding" week in Rotary.

The meeting was also addressed briefly by Hugh Stephen, chairman of the current Y.M.-Y.W. Building Fund, who praised MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River as "a great company whose generosity would not be forgotten by the citizens of Victoria." M and B gave $25,000 to the drive.

Frank Norton presided.

REGIONAL 'FIRST' FOR KAMLOOPS

Excellent Plays in Festival

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Times Drama Critic

KAMLOOPS—An intensely sincere and moving performance of Shelagh Delaney's controversial play, "A Taste of Honey," was performed in this drama festival city Thursday night by the North Kamloops PTA Theatre Wing, directed by Tom Kerr.

This was the same director and group which won the 1962 regional drama festival in Victoria with "The Long and the Short and the Tall."

Adjudicator Esme W. Ljungh complimented director Tom Kerr on his "wonderful sense of pace and time," and said the characters were clearly established from the beginning. "We might, however, ask for a little more clarity in diction," he added.

SECOND DAY

This was the second day of the British Columbia regional of the Dominion Drama Festival, and the general opinion was that North Kamloops PTA Theatre Wing had made an outstanding contribution.

Of Paddy Malcom, who played the prostitute, mother, Mr. Ljungh said: "She is obviously a very experienced actress—a real dynamo."

Blain Fairman, who lives in Victoria, won high praise for his performance of an effeminate but compassionate young man. "I have seldom seen smoother movement, better development of a role or a more wonderful sense of timing," the adjudicator said.

This 23rd annual drama festival opened Wednesday night with a production by Williams

Lake Players Club of "Visit to a Small Planet."

There are four entries altogether and the festival will end Saturday with Victoria's intimate stage production of "Le Petit Homme," written and directed by Tony Nicholson.

Kamloops has the honor of being the first interior city to host the drama festival, which is being held in Kamloops High School—the finest school auditorium I have seen to date.

GOOD ATMOSPHERE

Its sloping floor, good proscenium, balcony and intimate size—holding about 800—add up to comfort, a real theatre atmosphere and good acoustics.

The festival is fortunate in having Mr. Ljungh, national supervisor of drama for the CBC, as adjudicator.

He discusses the work in terms of community theatre rather than amateur. He makes this distinction because he feels that many persons of professional experience are integrated with amateurs in a sincere desire to promote an important art form within the community.

Mr. Ljungh is a meticulous adjudicator, careful to clarify his judgments, kindly, but giving the distinct impression that nothing escapes his notice.

WELL-KNOWN DIRECTOR

The Williams Lake entry was directed by well-known Canadian playwright and producer, Gwen Pharis Ringwood. It opened under obvious nervous strain, improved rapidly through the second act, but faltered and flaked out in the third.

Mr. Ljungh, however, felt the director had understood the play as having something to say under its cloak of satire-fantasy, and said the production had got the festival off to a good start.

Council to Hear Plans, Estimates For Celebrations

An outline of a year-round program of events will be presented city council next week by Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Along with it will be a budget request described only as in the "tens of thousands."

The suggested events include a two-day festival Aug. 2 and 3 celebrating the city's anniversary; a "sea-arama" including tugboat races; a talent show June 29; a baton-twirling competition June 30; a number of band concerts in August; a September carnival, and a pageant of Indian folklore.

What defeated Mrs. Lois Haggan's bill to amend the Fireworks Act on Thursday wasn't logic but a male mystique of which the little red Chinese spark-spitting pigtail is part.

From the moment the Grand Forks-Greenwood NDP rose to propose the measure innocuously titled "Bill No. 19", it was plain her anti-gunpowder plot was doomed.

Mr. Strachan (murmuring as Mrs. Haggan rises): "Ah! The grandmother protecting her grandchildren."

Mrs. Haggan: "Mr. Speaker, would you please request the leader of the Opposition to be quiet for a moment?"

"Fireworks are dangerous playthings in the hands of children, persons of immature mind and irresponsible adults. Children setting off fireworks are a danger to themselves, to others, and to property."

"Two years ago, when I introduced a bill against indiscriminate use of fireworks, the attorney-general said he couldn't go home and face his children if firecrackers were taken away from them. I was so filled with anguish at his plight that my fuse went out."

"I love my grandchildren too, but I think I could talk over with them and explain the loss of fireworks, those so-called playthings."

Immediate support came from NDP Arthur Turner, Vancouver East, convinced by a bomb dropped through the family letter slot last Halloween. Mr. Turner reminded legislators of what almost happened to another Parliament "when an estimable gentleman in 17th century England planned to use fireworks on a grand scale."

Bert Price, SC—Vancouver-Burrard, agreed. But after him came a veritable landslide of dissent.

Anthony Gargrave, NDP, Mackenzie: "I'm very fond of fireworks, myself. I think the bill is unduly restrictive."

Mr. Strachan: "I think most people know I'm opposed to any verbal fireworks, but the sort mentioned in this bill, I'm not opposed to."

Mr. Strachan then dwelt lovingly on Nanaimo's Nov. 5 "Bonfire Night"—Canada's only Guy Fawkes Day celebration—and pointed out what a fireworks ban would do to this traditional cracker spree.

Irvine Corbett, SC, Yale: "I'm a little tired of regulations and permits to do this or that."

"I want to preserve the right to buy a few fireworks for my kids, and go out and help shoot 'em."

Herbert Bruch, SC, Esquimalt: "This and some other problems will be solved when parents get up enough gumption to handle their children."

Attorney-General Bonner: "A regulatory piece of legislation senseless in its impact. I feel children should be instructed early to handle dangerous things, since they are growing up in a dangerous world."

Mrs. Haggan (stubborn in defeat): "I repeat, my bill would permit public displays. It would also serve the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition on a day which is dear to his heart."

Tien the vote. Mrs. Haggan tugs her unconvinced NDP neighbor Alex Macdonald to his feet in support. William Speare, SC, Cariboo, rises to Opposition jibes that "the government's crumbling."

But Bill 19 is lost. Guy Fawkes has triumphed, and unless local restrictions interfere, Halloween will still smell of villainous salt-peter.

Who's That, What Have They Got and Where Are They Taking It?

That is what some Victorians wondered when they saw these people walking along the street this morning trying to keep these neatly rolled documents from slipping out of their arms. To give you a hint, the rolls were tied with blue and gold ribbon and had a lot of names on them. Got it? If you haven't turn to Page 13 for the answer. (Photo by Irving Strickland).

Vote for Liberals Lesage Tells Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage Thursday called on Quebecers to vote Liberal in the federal election April 8, saying, the party is the only one capable of giving Canada stable government.

It was the first time he has given this advice and it followed reports he is considering taking part in the election campaign.

Mr. Lesage, whose brief statement in the legislature was interspersed with applause from Liberal benches in the assembly, also hinted he won't be going back into federal politics in the near future and expressed warm support for Liberal Leader Lester Pearson.

Finally, he took what was interpreted as a veiled poke at the Social Credit party, referring to "impossible" promises being made by "certain groups."

Mr. Lesage, who is believed to have been under heavy pressure from the federal party to give it public support, was prompted into his statement by Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson.

Mr. Johnson referred to a speech in which Yvon Dupuis, Liberal candidate and former member of the Quebec House, said Mr. Lesage would succeed Mr. Pearson as prime minister. He said Mr. Lesage should "end a climate of uncertainty in the province." It would be "a great loss" if Mr. Lesage returned to federal politics.

There was something he didn't understand, he said. "How could we hope for a stable government in Ottawa, in speaking of Mr. Pearson, when they are thinking on replacing him immediately after the election?"

Mr. Lesage, rising to reply before packed galleries, said the opposition leader "will have to endure me for a long time yet."

He added: "There is only one thing one can do if one is a good Quebecer who wants to assure the economic future of the province. That is to vote for the only party that can give a stable government in Ottawa, the Liberal party."

Dief Wrong On Columbia

CALGARY (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statements on the Columbia River treaty have been "full of wrong information from beginning to end," Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said today.

Gen. McNaughton, former chairman of the International Joint Commission, said he is confident the treaty will be rejected at the next sitting of the Commons.

Interviewed at the airport, he said Mr. Diefenbaker's political prestige rides on the implications of the treaty for Canada. The treaty is a "sell-out" and should be rejected, said Gen. McNaughton.

"Diefenbaker's statements were full of wrong information from beginning to end. He can't afford to get up and confess his faults."

Changing Work Estimates Said 'A Little Unusual'

By FRANK RUTTER and AB KENT

A highways department engineer today said it was "a little unusual" to change figures on a project estimate after it had been submitted to Victoria, but he would have approved the changes if asked.

Eric H. Barclay was telling the legislature's public accounts committee about controversial Project 819, subject of allegations of graft in the highways department.

He was the government's resident engineer on the job, a section of Trans-Canada Highway near Revelstoke.

Mr. Barclay admitted burning the project records two years ago after a visit from Montana contractor Dick Holzworth, but he kept a copy of the disputed estimate sheet.

He told Opposition Leader Robert Strachan the reason was his own business, then added that he "just happened to" keep it.

MONEY PAID

Mr. Holzworth, whose company did the later stages of the job, has charged the estimates of work done were changed, and money was paid for work never done.

The estimates were changed by a senior department of highways official in Victoria. They were not signed, as usual, by Mr. Barclay.

However, Mr. Barclay said today he agreed with the changed figures and would have signed the estimate if anyone had asked him to.

Answering questions by Liberal leader Ray Perrault, Mr. Barclay said: "The estimates were prepared by Mr. Barclay monthly, and Liberal leader Ray Perrault asked if the changes couldn't have waited a month."

"It was a little unusual to change the estimates. It could have been changed in December (the following month) just as easily," Mr. Barclay said.

The hearings adjourned until 9:30 a.m. Monday.

A special bill is expected in the legislature later today to allow for the extension of hearings after the session ends, probably next Tuesday, committee chairman Irvine Corbett said.

First witness Monday "will be Bruce Harvey, a federal public works official who at one stage inspected Project 819. He will be followed by other officials of the highways department. A total of seven more witnesses were lined up at a brief in camera sitting of the committee early today."

When Mr. Barclay resumed this morning, he said he had been told that "controversial Project 819 turned out to be a very excellent job."

"I made them really clean up the job," he said.

However, he added that the types of material to be moved on the job was one of the roughest such tasks he had ever had as an engineer.

NEW BERLIN TALKS OPEN ON TUESDAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia and the United States will open a new round of exploratory talks on Berlin Tuesday, the state department disclosed today.

Participating in that meeting will be State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

Split Remains At Arms Talks

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference agreed today to devote one meeting a week to a debate on measures to reduce the risk of war, but the United States and Russia remained sharply divided on which of these measures would be discussed.

The decision partially resolved a procedural deadlock which has prevented the conference taking up various proposals for reducing world tensions prior to a general disarmament treaty.

The deadlock arose mainly from a Western refusal to discuss a Soviet proposal for a non-aggression pact between the North Atlantic Alliance and the Soviet bloc's Warsaw pact.

U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stelle and Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, co-chairmen of the conference met for nearly three hours Thursday night in an effort to settle the procedural argument.

They reported to the conference session that they had reached no agreement on what items could be discussed and in what order. But they decided that the so-called collateral measures would be discussed every Friday.

They reported to the conference session that they had reached no agreement on what items could be discussed and in what order. But they decided that the so-called collateral measures would be discussed every Friday.

He said "the Trans-Canada people" came to look over his classifications and after a visual inspection "were in complete accord."

Montana contractor Dick Holzworth had charged that the classifications were changed and L and M logging, the "original contractor," was paid $5135,000 for work it never did.

OVER ESTIMATE

Mr. Barclay said that when the project was finished it turned out that the contractor had moved 57,000 more yards of rock than the original project estimate called for.

He agreed with one of Mr. Holzworth's charges: that L and M "gutted" the job, skimming off the easiest work, before the project was taken over by Union Contractors under Mr. Holzworth.

"It was nothing to do with me at all," Mr. Barclay said.

Damage Up As Vandals Hit Schools

Four schools in the Greater Victoria area were broken into overnight, the latest in a wave of break-ins since late in 1962 which has exasperated police and school board officials.

Vandals Thursday night struck at Mount Douglas, Claremont, Royal Oak and North Saanich schools.

Although they got away with little, they added to the list of damage to schools which has mounted into the thousands of dollars.

At North Saanich, several drawers and cupboards were jimmied by the culprits, who entered through the staff entrance.

At Claremont, entrance was gained through a ground-floor class room window which was smashed.

Glass in a door at Mount Douglas was broken to admit the thieves.

In all three cases the building was ransacked and papers strewn about when the culprits searched for money.

Only at Mount Douglas was anything reported missing, a "very small amount of cash."

Authorities at Royal Oak Junior-Senior High School refused to disclose if anything was missing or how entrance was gained.

NO MONEY

Charles C. Hackett, of the Greater Victoria School District's building and grounds department, said it was unfortunate the thieves didn't realize that no money was kept in schools.

Only in pay telephones could any cash be found, he said, and not all schools have these.

Spokesmen for the Sooke and Rural Saanich school boards said since last month they have made in policy not to keep money in school buildings overnight.

This ruling, they said, was prompted by the increasing number of school break-ins since the beginning of the year.

Mount Newton High School has reported two break-ins, Claremont High, four, North Saanich two and Royal Oak one, since January 1.

FAVORITES

In Sooke, Belmont High School has been the most frequently hit, the last time three weeks ago when cash and a number of tools were taken. Milnes Landing High School is another favorite scene of burglaries.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer of the city police said former pupils at the schools concerned usually are responsible.

"They may have had some difficulty at school and may have been kicked out. But when they get out they feel the school is fair game," he said.

He said the usual pattern followed was "vindictive" vandalism. However, the most recent break-ins have been distinguished by pay telephone robberies.

"Another factor is that these places are for the most part isolated," the deputy chief said.

"We can patrol them, sure, but we haven't enough men to watch every school as closely as we would like."

Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, said the latest break-ins have decided her to bring the matter up for "serious consideration" by the board.

"We will certainly have to discuss this," she said.

WEEKEND MEETING

The problem will be brought up at a meeting this weekend in Parksville of the Vancouver Island Branch of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, she added.

"We have considered using commissionaires or janitors before," Mrs. Thompson said, "but we felt the cost would be too great."

"But I don't think the cost of regular patrols would be as great as the damage which is being done to our schools," she added.

NUCLEAR CLUB GROWTH FEARED BY KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says he is "haunted by the feeling" that unless a nuclear test ban treaty is signed the number of countries with nuclear weapons may rise to 15 or 20 by 1975, enlarging the danger of human contamination from testing and death through nuclear war.

He also said Russia has removed 3,000 troops from Cuba "in these past weeks" and he hopes more will be removed by the end of March. Under Kennedy's estimate the Soviet force in Cuba may have dropped to about 14,500.

Kennedy returned in a "jubilant mood" from his three-day conference with six Central American presidents at San Juan, Costa Rica.

He said he was increasingly confident the U.S. would continue to live in a hemisphere of independent, firm and faithful friends. There would be no invasion of Cuba at this time but concerted action would be taken to halt the traffic in Cuban arms and saboteurs among friendly Latin American countries.

Four Rapists Recaptured

DEEP RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Four men who escaped from police custody in a Montreal courthouse Thursday night were recaptured today by Ontario Provincial Police on a highway just west of this Ottawa River town 125 miles northwest of the capital.

A car in which the four were travelling was halted by a roadblock after town police here alerted the provincial police detachment at Rolphston, about 10 miles west of here.

The men had stopped at a Deep River service station to buy gasoline. After the attendant called the police, the car suddenly sped off. The gas had not been paid for.

The enraged attendant called town police with a description of the car, which had headed west on Highway 17, an alternate route of the Trans-Canada Highway.

A provincial police cruiser stopped the car and first reports said the four men gave up without a struggle. They were brought to the Deep River police cellblock.

CARS BLOCK ROAD

"Two police cars were on the highway between here and Rolphston when the radio call went out to stop the car. Constable Pat Barrow of the Rolphston provincial police and Constable Lindsay White of Deep River blocked the highway with their cars."

Israel Singer, a Montreal taxi driver who was forced to drive the four men out of Montreal, was found in the car. A police report by radio said Singer had been "abused" by the men but was not in serious condition.

The four men have been identified as Emilian Maltais, 22; Camille Michaud, 21; Laurier Deschenes, 21, and his brother Guy, 27.

They were convicted of the rape and torture of a Quebec City housewife last year, and were appearing in Montreal court to appeal sentences of 20 to 25 years and six to eight strokes of the lash.

The letter from the underground said "this giant arsenal was transported to Cuba by four Russian ships that arrived at Bahia Honda Pinar Del Rio province March 1-2."

Last to Leave 'The Rock'

Leaving Alcatraz for last time are prisoners seen above, some of 27 moved today to other U.S. Federal prisons. Departure of the last of the inmates today closed "The Rock," a prison for more than a century and federal penitentiary housing the most hardened U.S. criminals for the past 29 years.

'Conflict of Interest' Ruled 'Private Matter'

PHONE HOG BILL RULED OUT OF ORDER

A private member's bill aimed at prosecuting people who hog telephone lines in an emergency failed in the legislature Thursday on second reading.

Proposed by Pat McGeer (L—Point Grey), the bill would have amended the Health Act to make an offence any telephone hogging where there is immediate danger to life and limb.

It would also have provided for action against any person requesting emergency use of a telephone line where no emergency exists.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said it must be considered whether such legislation should be in the Health Act, and if there is power to legislate where a private company is concerned.

Mr. Bonner said the bill "falls far short of dealing with people who may find themselves involved in this type of situation," and because penalty is proposed, the Speaker ruled the bill out of order.

PGE Allegations Answered In Report Filed By Bonner

Allegations concerning the accounting practices of PGE Railway vice-president Einar M. Gunderson are a private matter and not of government concern, according to a report by Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

He filed the report in the legislature Thursday.

It was in answer to allegations about a conflict of interests on the part of Mr. Gunderson.

The allegations were made by James Rhodes (NDP—Delta).

Mr. Gunderson is a partner in the accounting firm of Gunderson, Stokes, Walton of Vancouver.

Mr. Rhodes charged in the House February 27 that Mr. Gunderson's company was involved in a firm, W. L. Laird Distributors, doing business with the PGE. He said this was "untenable."

He criticized "a long line of credit" extended to Laird by the PGE.

The Bonner report shows the company has lagged in its payments on this debt.

The report shows a debt of $65,000 which was to be paid back at $5,000 a year or half the annual profits, whichever was the greater.

Laird repaid only $1,000 in 1961 and $2,000 in 1962.

Phone Calls About Beer Denied

One affidavit, from Douglas F. Small, Laird's branch manager at Shalalth in 1956 and 1957 said that Laird telephoned someone called Gunderson when he wanted beer shipped up the PGE.

Mr. Gunderson told Mr. Bonner's investigators that he didn't know the man allegedly involved and never received any telephone calls from him to the best of his knowledge.

Another allegation in the affidavit was that a special PGE train moved Mr. Laird's personal goods and that he sold a house worth $4,000 for $14,000. Mr. Bonner's report says the facts were that it was sold for $3,000. It adds there never was any special train.

A second affidavit presented by Mr. Rhodes was by Luger C. Robineau, who said he was hired by Mr. Laird to check accounts.

He said he found "tremendous" differences between PGE debts and claims. He also found most of Laird's figures, which he said had been audited by Mr. Gunderson's firm, to be incorrect.

The Bonner report said that Mr. Robineau had been jailed for forgery in 1957.

It added that "at no time" did Mr. Gunderson's firm undertake to do an audit of the Laird books.

The firm had only done a "summary" of the report said.

Forest Companies Give Opinions On Independents

Two major B.C. forest companies agreed Thursday that independent loggers can play a role in harvesting Crown timber in company tree farm licence areas—but disagreed on what the role should be.

L. L. G. Bentley, vice-president of Canadian Forest Products Limited, said harvest contracts should be given independent operators only if they can perform the service more efficiently than the company.

J. O. Hemmingsen, vice-president of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited, said there is a place for large and small contracting within the company's operations, even though the contracting costs his company money.

MLA Charges Oil Company 'Insults'

The B.C. president of Standard Oil and B.C. Chambers of Commerce has little respect for the legislature and people of the province, opposition member John Squire said in the house Thursday.

Mr. Squire (NDP—Alberni) said Ralph Baker had insulted members of the legislature in a letter to all MLAs, which was written in answer to pleas by Socred Cyril Shefford (Omineca) for a standardized system of gasoline prices across B.C.

"Oil companies from the well-head down are a pretty irresponsible bunch," Mr. Squire said.

"They don't seem to have too much respect for public opinion."

"When I see how we get skinned in this province, I can understand what's happening in Kuwait and places like that."

He quoted from the letter from Mr. Baker, who said, "Now is no time to waver and waver" in a campaign against "cynical and self-seeking politicians."

Mr. Squire considered the remark "an insult not only to myself but to every other member of this house."

He said the oil companies write letters and make press releases that would indicate nobody has a brain in their head.

PERSONAL ATTACKS

"They make bitter personal attacks on the member for Omineca."

"The oil companies spend millions of dollars to advertise the same product under a different name."

The member said the system of "inequities in gas prices and featherbedding in the industry has got to stop."

He went on to urge development of a natural gas pipeline from the mainland across Gulf of Georgia to Vancouver Island north of Duncan should be by B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

He pointed out that a private company had failed to do it and failed to see why the people of Vancouver Island should be penalized on gas prices compared with mainland prices.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, whose estimates were being debated, pointed out that several millions had been spent by the company on engineering difficulty of building a submerged pipeline without solving the problem.

SALARY VOTE

In the same debate—which lasted just under three hours—most of it on Mr. Kiernan's salary vote—Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) asked Mr. Kiernan to consider closer inspection of new mining companies to ensure that "there is something in the ground to begin with."

'YOUNGSTERS SHOULD LEARN USE OF GUNS'

Fireworks Bill Fails on Division

Every parent should teach his children the proper use of pistols and rifles, Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the legislature Thursday in debate on a private bill to outlaw private use of fireworks.

"Youngsters should be taught to handle dangerous things. Any parent who does not teach his youngster to handle a pistol or rifle is not doing his duty by that child," Mr. Bonner said.

He said the argument that children should not handle firearms "is one of the most specious I've heard."

Debate was on a bill introduced for second reading by Mrs. Lois Hagen (NDP—Grand Forks-Greenwood), to amend the Fireworks Regulation Act, limiting sale and discharge of fireworks to people or organizations conducting a public display who have fire marshal's permission.

The vote went to division of the House after 11 members spoke on it, then failed by a count of 33 to 13. One Social Credit member—Bert Price—spoke in support of the bill, but was not in the House to vote for it. Instead, William Speare (SC—Cariboo), stood alone in the government ranks to support Mrs. Hagen.

"I can't understand why we are so smug as to think just because we have taught our young people to handle these so-called playthings safely that there will be accidents at all," Mrs. Hagen said.

It is the responsibility of the government to make control province wide rather than permissive to individual areas, she said.

Her concern was for the younger ones, to whom we are supposed to show some guidance and protection," she said.

"It is time parents took some responsibility as far as their children are concerned," said Irvine Corbett (SC—Yale), who said he was tired of legislation protecting people from themselves and each other.

ATLIN MLA MAKES NEW PLEA FOR COMMISSION ON MINING

A renewed plea for a royal commission into mining was made in the legislature Thursday by Frank Calder (NDP—Atlin), who was supported by colleague Leo Nimick (NDP—Cranbrook).

Mr. Calder said the terms of reference should include monopoly in the industry, speculation in mining properties, road accessibility, feasibility of copper and iron smelters, setting up secondary industries, prospecting, markets, displaced workers, tax and geological surveys.

Electrical wiring, copper tubing, asbestos brake linings, fire proofing and steel are some of the manufactures that could be produced right in the province, he said. This would help reduce export of raw material and displacement of workmen in Canada.

THIS IS WHERE they landed — on the desk of Education Minister Leslie Peterson. The rolls contained signatures collected last week by UBC and Victoria College students in support of the Macdonald report on higher education. Looking on are Marilyn McKay of Victoria College and Alf Pettersen, president of the college students' council.

I wish to pretend to congratulate the lovely ladies who work on behalf of the 2nd Victoria Troop of Boy Scouts. The reason for this pretense is I have heard of the imaginary tea and bazaar the ladies plan for 4 p.m., Tuesday, April 2.

Not April 1, mind you: April 2.

If you do not know what an imaginary tea and bazaar might be, there is no need to hang your head in shame. I did not know, either, until the ladies explained it to me.

This imaginary tea and bazaar is a method to raise funds for the 2nd Fort Victoria Group Committee, and it has several distinct advantages over a regular tea and bazaar.

1. You do not have to attend.
2. You do not have to waste your valuable time baking for it, producing articles for sale, working in a booth, arranging for sitters or expending time, money and effort getting to the hall. (For ladies who work the booths there is an added feature—they don't have to buy back their own baking.)
3. You will be supporting a worthwhile cause the easy way.

All the group committee asks is that those willing to support the imaginary bazaar brew themselves a cup of tea, call up a neighbor and gossip for half an hour while sipping tea, then mail a donation to the group treasurer.

You see why I am so happy to pretend to congratulate the ingenious devisers of the imaginary bazaar?

I have long held a suspicion that our old friend of more courtly days, RSVP, has fallen upon lean times. It seems to me that dear old RSVP, while still appearing in the lower left-hand corner of neatly-printed cards, doesn't command the respect he used to.

In other words, people just don't RS and VP any more. People receive invitations, and they either go to the affair or don't go to the affair, without taking the trouble to acknowledge the invitation.

This suspicion about the decline of RSVP was confirmed with the receipt this week of an invitation to the acceptance ceremony of the new government ferry, MV Queen of Esquimalt.

The invite, of course, carries the initials RSVP.

Not only that, the invite specifies a date for RSVPing. And, in addition, the invite supplies a phone number to save the trouble of writing a letter or note.

ALSO, enclosed with the invite is a printed notice, saying, somewhat plaintively:

"It will be appreciated if you will reply to your RSVP notice by March 22 as the invitation list will close on that date."

Loosely translated, meaning: "Reply if you please, but please reply."

I hope the B.C. Toll Authority will let me know how it makes out.

Topics of the Day

A 14-year-old boy knocked from his bicycle at 8:25 a.m. today while on the way to school was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital with a broken leg and other undetermined injuries.

He was undergoing an operation at press time.

Police said Richard Poole, 235 Wilson, was riding east on Wilson and turning left on to Springfield when he collided with the rear of a trailer-truck being driven south on Springfield by Robert Kennedy, 3015 Admirals.

DOUBLE MURDER

Juvenile Committed To Essondale

A youth scheduled to appear in juvenile court today on a charge of "delinquency" in connection with the capital murder of George, the pants pocket of a man who and Helene Bickford, has been committed to Essondale Mental Hospital by an order-in-council.

The Bickfords died of gunshot wounds. They were both found dead on Feb. 13 in the home behind the Shelbourne Plaza shopping centre.

A coroner's inquest will continue April 1.

Greater Victoria looks good in the running water field but sort of stinks when it comes to sewers, according to the 1961 census breakdown received by Capital Planning Board.

CRPB said of 17 metropolitan areas, we stood third from the top in the percentage of houses with running water, 99.1 per cent.

But we stood fourth from the bottom with the percentage of unsewered lots requiring septic tanks standing at 27 per cent.

A hungry thief stole into a Sussex Hotel room overnight and made off with sacks of vegetables.

He also stole $124 cash from the pants pocket of a man who was sleeping in the same room.

The victim of the robbery who gave his name as I. Michelson, told police three plastic bags containing potatoes, onions and carrots were taken from a cupboard in the room while he was sleeping.

The cash was taken from his pants lying near the bed where he slept.

"A" group of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Monterey parking lot for a field trip to Dumbarton Road, off Munn Road.

The Nature House at Francis Park will be open on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. "Nature Walks" will be held during the afternoon.

Mrs. Dorothy Aoraham will speak on "This Changing World" Monday at 3 p.m. at a meeting of the British-Israel Society in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street.

Victoria Liberal campaigners are trying to reschedule an election debate at a Victoria Labor Council meeting.

Liberal candidate David Groos said it was previously planned that the four major parties would each participate—but Social Credit and Conservative candidates refused to attend and the meeting was cancelled.

Now Mr. Groos is hoping it will proceed with him and NDP candidate Harry Fanthorpe sharing the platform.

"We shouldn't be denied the chance to appear before a labor audience because of the reluctance of two other parties," said Mr. Groos.

"The Liberals want to find out what we can for the trade union movement."

Belmont High School Association will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the school.

The meeting will be followed by a student gymnastic and tumbling display.

THE ELECTION TRAIL

Liberals, NDP, Seek Labor Debate

Chairman will be Herbert Anson. Co-speaker will be federal Works Minister E. Davie Fulton.

Mr. Anson, once B.C. Tory leader, finance minister in the Coalition government, an ex-reeve of Oak Bay, an ex-mayor of Victoria and once a Victoria MLA, comes out of political retirement to accept the duty.

Mr. Fulton arrives with the prime minister at Patricia Bay airport 3 p.m. Monday.

The party comes here after a Nanaimo luncheon where Mr. Fulton joins the prime minister for a Saturday tour of Comox-Alberni points—Campbell River, Courtenay, Qualicum and Alberni.

There will be an informal reception for the top party brass at Empress Hotel. The prime minister will dine privately with Mrs. Diefenbaker.

His speech at Bay Street Armory is slated for 8 p.m.

Planning to be out of your own riding on election day? If so you must cast your ballot at an advance poll before leaving.

Locations of advance polls are listed on the section of voters' list mailed to each family or individual now on the list.

Advance polling takes place March 30 and April 1 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, Victoria Social Credit candidate in the federal election, was stymied by brother aldermen Thursday in a bid to hood meters in front of his Douglas Street campaign office.

He got a flat no.

Premier Bennett will re-enter the Victoria campaign on behalf of Ald. Mooney.

The premier will be keynote speaker April 3 at a Sacred meeting at Central Junior High at 8 p.m.

James Audain, meeting organizer for Oak Bay Socials, said the premier will make a major policy address.

Esquimalt-Saanich Social Credit campaigners will tour areas where they have erected posters.

A spokesman for candidate Edward Lum said vandals are still tearing down party posters. Police were asked to assist last week.

Mr. Lum today corrected a morning report that he would appear tonight at Gordon Head School. There is no meeting scheduled.

600 Bundles 'Back Mac' on Education Need

By DESMOND BILL.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson had a problem literally dumped on his desk this morning.

It covered the desk, spread on to the floor and piled up on chairs.

And long after his secretary has cleared away the petitions, collected last weekend by students at University of British Columbia and Victoria College the problem will remain.

What is the government going to do to implement the Macdonald report on higher education in B.C. and to increase operating grants for the university and the college?

It took eight students, including one girl, to carry the petitions.

They bore the signatures of 230,000 British Columbians, 24,000 of them collected in Greater Victoria and 114,500 in Vancouver.

Mr. Peterson said the public support shown for more money for higher education would help in getting action on the Macdonald Report.

Does the government regard the petition as an attempt to pressure it?

Said Mr. Peterson: "We don't resent any attempt to apply pressure on us."

But he added, "We don't always act on the basis of pressure."

The minister told the student delegation that it is government policy to give the universities as much money as it can afford to meet their needs.

Malcolm Scott, president of UBC Students' Council, told him the students hope the public support demonstrated by the petitions will cause the government to act speedily and to implement the Macdonald Report as quickly as is feasible.

"The Back Mac" campaign, as the students call their project in support of the report, was put over in three days last weekend by 6,000 students at UBC and Victoria College.

The petitions were neatly rolled in 600 bundles, tied with blue and gold bands, and brought to Mr. Peterson's office at 10 a.m. today.

Mr. Peterson jokingly asked the delegation why the petitions were addressed to the government and not just to him.

Said he: "This means I have to bring all the petitions to the cabinet. How am I going to carry them all?"

City's Budget Chopped By $230,000

City finance committee today wound up two days of preliminary sifting of budget estimates after cutting out about $230,000.

That still leaves an initial increase of about $885,000 over last year's budget but much of this will melt next week when public works committee takes its first run at the estimates.

When committees have finished, the remainder is sent to city council for the final chopping operations before the mill rate is set in May.

Most of the finance committee cuts were made in the fire department—topping off $156,000 in one stroke by rejecting a proposal to build a fourth fire hall in the Quadra-Hillside area.

A small, but significant cut, was made this morning in wiping out a $250 scholarship for a Victoria student at Victoria College interested in physical education.

FOR FIVE YEARS

The scholarship, due to run for five years—was set up by city council after the 1959 royal visit in response to Prince Phillip's expressed interest in physical fitness.

But it never has been claimed by a qualified applicant and committee decided it was pointless in carrying it on the books.

Another cut of $12,143 was achieved by deferring for one year the first of five annual payments for Royal Jubilee Hospital's laboratory and student-nurse residence expansion which are not expected to get underway until 1964.

Car Driver Leaves Scene of Accident

City police today are investigating a car-bus accident which occurred on Douglas and Bay at 10:22 p.m. Thursday.

The driver and a woman in the car vanished from the scene on foot before police arrived to investigate. The fuel tank of the B.C. Hydro bus was damaged by the impact.

PERCY RAYMENT... to turn first sod

Union Hall Ceremony On Monday

Veteran trade unionist A. Percy Rayment will turn the first sod in the construction of the new Labor Temple at 10 a.m. Monday.

Contract for the new building at Market and Quadra has been awarded to Patterson Construction. Initial amount of the contract is $144,600 and the final figure is expected to be about $150,000.

The new union headquarters is expected to be officially opened on Labor Day this fall. It will replace the union headquarters at 615 Pandora which are to be leased or sold.

Ald. A. W. Tague, business manager of Victoria Building Co-operative Union, said about $30,000 is still needed in pledges from unions to buy shares in the new headquarters.

He said that although construction is starting immediately the financing won't be completed until the extra shares are taken up.

He said it is urgent that the financing arrangements be completed and appealed to all unions to pledge to buy more shares.

Children's Physician Dies Here

Dr. Jay I. Durand, a pioneer in pediatrics in the Puget Sound area, died in his sleep Thursday, aged 85.

Dr. Durand practised in Seattle for 40 years and was chief of pediatric services at Children's Orthopedic Hospital.

He established the first child outpatient clinic there.

Dr. Durand was one of the organizers of the American Academy of Pediatrics in 1930 and served as president of its 4,100-member doctors in 1945-46.

He was made an honorary member of the medical staffs of Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals when he came to Victoria to retire in 1954.

SURVIVORS

He is survived by the widow, Gertrude; a daughter, Mrs. James Munro of Victoria; a son, Douglas H. Green of Toronto; a sister, Mrs. Frederick Bradbury; a niece, Miss Mary Eleanor Bradbury of Los Angeles, and a nephew, Frederick Bradbury of Avenal, Calif.

Funeral services will be held in McCall's chapel Tuesday at 2 p.m. Cremation will follow.

Mayor, Minister Protest Bombs

Navy Criticized For Beach Danger

The Victoria bomb scare today exploded into protests against RCN-RCAF operation in Victoria offshore waters.

Victoria MLA, Works Minister W. N. Chant and Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson each proposed that steps be taken to keep dangerous war games debris off Victoria beaches.

Their comments followed an RCN statement Thursday that four smoke bombs and four flares have been found this week, drifted ashore.

At the same time, news stories about findings of live bombs throughout B.C. and the deaths of two Boy Scouts who hit one at Vernon last week, have caused a flurry of attic searching.

RCN bomb disposal experts today are investigating these reports to their offices:

9:30 a.m.—Two bombs turned in at the downtown navy shore patrol office.

9:31 a.m.—A bomb reported at 1230 Fairfield Road.

9:30 a.m.—A shell awaiting pickup at 3268 Bellevue.

10 a.m.—Another shell at 3510 Calumet.

10:02—Another bomb at 335 Niagara.

BOMB DOORSTOP

An Esquimalt family, Mrs. Kathleen Grier and her sons James 11, and Michael 8, 1174 Lockley, reported Thursday that they were using a shell as a doorstop.

The navy found it was loaded with enough explosive to destroy their home—and them with it.

Also Thursday, it was learned that another live bomb, found at 1633 Inverness, had been used by two boys in a game of caten.

Most of the items are classed as souvenirs—the kind apt to make a lasting impression in the landscape.

Many of the "live shells" reported turn out to be dud—defused and explosive charges removed. One call to the navy resulted in the delicate examination of an old lipstick tube.

AIR HAMMER RACKET MEANS TREES TO COME

Jackhammers were pounding out a new kind of spring sound on downtown Douglas Street's sidewalks today.

Spaces were being cut in the sidewalk for planting of about 50 trees—the first to sprout in the commercial area—as part of this year's civic beautification program.

Underground wire ducts and other facilities have forced the parks department to stagger the tree locations instead of lining them up as uniform ranks on both sides of the street.

JAYCEE IDEAL

Fair Lady Sought For Fair

Who is the ideal Victoria girl?

The Jaycees are looking for her.

They want to crown her Miss Victoria at their annual Miss Victoria Pageant during the Jaycee Fair May 13 to 18.

Already they have their eye on two contenders for the title.

They are 18-year-old Judy Jacquard of 956 Judah St. and Ann Rainsford, 19, of 1112 Finlayson Ave., pictured below.

But the Jaycees expect about 20 more young women will enter the contest. One year recently there were 55 candidates.

Any single attractive girl between 18 and 26 years of age is eligible. They must have completed grade 11, have good character and possess poise, personality and beauty of face and figure.

Further information may be obtained from Doug Webb at 383-0744 or 477-4342 or from Win Garcin at 382-6111, local 2364, or 383-1484.

Ask The Times

Q. If a person sends a Canadian money order for $1 to France, how many francs would the recipient receive for it? H.L.

A. They would receive four francs plus some change. A French franc is worth 22.67 cents in Canadian money.

Q. Would you please tell me where I should write for information on obtaining an amateur radio licence?

A. Address inquiries to: Inspector, Radio Regulations, Department of Transport, 805 Government Street, Victoria, B.C.

FIRST CONTENDERS for the title of Miss Victoria are Judy Jacquard, 18, of 956 Judah Street, at left, and Ann Rainsford, 19, of 1112 Finlayson Avenue. Along with an expected 20 other candidates they will enter the contest seeking the ideal Victoria girl during the Victoria Jaycee Fair May 13 to 18. The competition is open to single, attractive girls between the ages of 18 and 26. Contestants will be judged not only on looks and figure but also on personality and talent.

Move to Abolish Boxing in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Assemblyman Carl Britschgi, angered by the critical injury of fighter Davey Moore, said today he will introduce a bill to abolish boxing in California.

Moore suffered severe brain damage Thursday in losing his world featherweight crown to Sugar Ramos in Los Angeles.

NUCLEAR CLUB GROWTH
FEARED BY KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says he is "haunted by the feeling" that unless a nuclear test ban treaty is signed the number of countries with nuclear weapons may rise to 15 or 20 by 1975, enlarging the danger of human contamination from testing and death through nuclear war.

He also said Russia has removed 3,000 troops from Cuba "in these past weeks" and he hopes more will be removed by the end of March. Under Kennedy's estimate the Soviet force in Cuba may have dropped to about 14,500.

Kennedy returned in a jubilant mood from his three-day conference with six Central American presidents at San Juan, Costa Rica.

He said he was increasingly confident the U.S. would continue to live in a hemisphere of independent, firm and faithful friends. There would be no invasion of Cuba at this time, but concerted action would be taken to halt the traffic in Cuban arms and saboteurs among friendly Latin American countries.

Four Rapists
Recaptured

DEEP RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Four men who escaped from police custody in a Montreal courthouse Thursday night were recaptured today by Ontario Provincial Police on a highway just west of this Ottawa River town 125 miles northwest of the capital.

A car in which the four were travelling was halted by a road block after town police here alerted the provincial police detachment at Rolphton, about 10 miles west of here.

The men had stopped at a Deep River service station to buy gasoline. After the attendant filled the tank, the car suddenly sped off. The gas had not been paid for.

The enraged attendant called town police with a description of the car, which had headed west on Highway 17, an alternate route of the Trans-Canada Highway.

A provincial police cruiser stopped the car and first reports said the four men gave up without a struggle. They were brought to the Deep River police cellblock.

CARS BLOCK ROAD

Two police cars were on the highway between here and Rolphton when the radio call went out to stop the car. Constable Pat Barrow of the Rolphton provincial police and Constable Lindsay White of Deep River blocked the highway with their cars.

Israel Singer, a Montreal taxi driver who was forced to drive the four men out of Montreal, was found in the car. A police report by radio said Singer had been "abused" by the men but was not in serious condition.

The four men have been identified as Emilien Maltais, 22; Camille Michaud, 21; Laurier Deschenes, 21, and his brother Guy, 27.

They were convicted of the rape and torture of a Quebec City housewife last year and were appearing in Montreal court to appeal sentences of 20 to 25 years and six to eight strokes of the lash.

TALKS OPEN ON TUESDAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia and the United States will open a new round of exploratory talks on Berlin here Tuesday, the state department disclosed today.

Participating in that meeting will be State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

'Stay Out,' Caouette
Warns

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP)—René Caouette, Social Credit deputy leader, warned Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec Thursday night to stay out of the April 8 federal election campaign or face counter-attack from Social Credit.

"If Jean Lesage wants to play federal politics, I will play with him," he told a cheering overflow crowd of 800 in the Diocesan Centre in this city of 25,000, 25 miles northwest of Montreal.

Mr. Caouette apparently was referring to remarks made in the Quebec legislature earlier Thursday by the premier, urging Quebec voters to support the Liberal party in the federal election, and to recent speculation that Mr. Lesage would attack the Social Credit party.

Mr. Caouette said his group is not interested in entering the provincial field in Quebec because its monetary policy can only be applied at the federal level. But he hinted that the Social Credit organization would work for candidates opposing the Liberals in the next Quebec election if the Quebec government openly criticized Social Credit.

Cuba Stocks
Big Arsenal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Reports of a military buildup in Cuba for revolution in other Latin American countries continued to arrive from the Cuban underground Thursday.

A responsible exile leader said he received reports of "the largest concentration of modern arms since the October Cuban crisis" on Cuba's north shore.

The letter from the underground said "this giant arsenal was transported to Cuba by four Russian ships that arrived at Bahia Honda Pinar Del Rio province March 12."

Changing Work Estimates
Said 'A Little Unusual'By FRANK RUTTER and AB KENT

A highways department engineer today said it was "a little unusual" to enlarge figures on a project estimate after it had been submitted to Victoria, but he would have approved the changes if asked.

Eric H. Barclay was telling the legislature's public accounts committee about controversial Project 819, subject of allegations of graft in the highways department.

He was the government's resident engineer on the job, a section of Trans-Canada Highway near Revelstoke.

Mr. Barclay admitted burning the project records "two years ago after a visit from Montana contractor Dick Holzworth, but he kept a copy of the disputed estimate sheet.

He told Opposition Leader Robert Strachan the reason was his own business, then added that he "just happened" to keep it.

Mr. Holzworth, whose company did the later stages of the job, has charged the estimates of work done were changed, and money was paid for work never done.

The estimates were changed by a senior department of highways official who at the legislature later today to allow for the extension of hearings after the session ends, probably next Tuesday.

Committee chairman Irvine Corbett said—

First witness Monday will be Bruce Harvey, a federal public works official who at one stage inspected Project 819. He will be followed by other officials of the highways department. A total of seven more witnesses were lined up at a brief in camera sitting of the committee early today.

When Mr. Barclay resumed this morning, he said he had been told that controversial Project 819 turned out to be "a very excellent job."

On Her Way Back
From Australia

The Queen has been invited to come to Victoria next week to prorogue the session of the B.C. legislature.

There is no word yet on her acceptance.

The Queen and Prince Philip are scheduled to be in Vancouver next Wednesday when their aircraft makes a refuelling stop on their return to England from Australia.

The legislature is expected to end either Wednesday or Thursday.

Premier Bennett this afternoon amazed the House when he disclosed that the invitation had been telegraphed to the Queen's secretary by Lieutenant Gov. George Pearkes, who normally prorogues a session.

The telegram was sent to Col. Rt. Hon. Sir Michael Adeane, the Queen's private secretary.

It says that the session is expected to end Wednesday or Thursday. The timing of the Queen's arrival will be at the convenience of the government.

She is invited to spend Wednesday night at Government House here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Pearkes.

PLEASE SUBJECTS

"If Her Majesty could prorogue the legislature it would give much pleasure to all her loyal subjects in B.C.," the telegram said.

The premier said that it might not be possible at such short notice for the royal couple to make a trip to Victoria, because their itinerary usually is prepared long in advance.

"But it would honor us greatly if she could do so," he said.

At present she is aboard the royal yacht Britannia in Australian waters.

Under the Canadian system all bills passed by a legislature or Parliament become law when they are given "royal assent."

In Ottawa this is done by the Governor-General in a vice-regal capacity. In a province it is done by the Lieutenant-Governor, who holds the comparable position. In each case it is done in the name of the crown.

Queen Elizabeth is the "Queen of Canada" so that if she were present when these duties must be done she may do so personally, as she does in the Parliament of England.

Damage High
As Vandals
Hit Schools

Four schools in the Greater Victoria area were broken into overnight, the latest in a wave of break-ins since late in 1962 which has exasperated police and school board officials.

Vandals Thursday night struck at Mount Douglas, Clarendon, Royal Oak and North Saanich high schools.

Although they got away with little, they added to the list of damage to schools which has mounted into the thousands of dollars.

At North Saanich, several drawers and cupboards were jammed by the culprits, who entered through the staff entrance.

At Clarendon, entrance was gained through a ground-floor classroom window which was smashed.

Glass in a door at Mount Douglas was broken to admit the thieves.

In all three cases the building was ransacked and papers strewn about when the culprits searched for money.

Only at Mount Douglas was anything reported missing, a "very small amount of cash."

Authorities at Royal Oak Junior-Senior High School refused to disclose if anything was missing or how entrance was gained.

NO MONEY
Charles C. Hackett, of the Greater Victoria School District's building and grounds department, said it was unfortunate the thieves didn't realize that no money was kept in schools.

Only in pay telephones could any cash be found, he said, and not all schools have these.

Spokesmen for the Sooke and Rural-Saanich school boards said since last month they have made in policy not to keep money in school buildings overnight.

This ruling, they said, was prompted by the increasing number of school break-ins since the beginning of the year.

Mount Newton High School has reported two break-ins, Clarendon High four, North Saanich two and Royal Oak one, since January 1.

'FAVORITES'
In Sooke, Belmont High School has been the most frequently hit, the last time three weeks ago when cash and a number of tools were taken. Milnes Landing High School is another favorite scene of burglaries.

Deputy Chief Harry Mercer of the city police said former pupils at the schools concerned usually are responsible.

"They may have had some difficulty at school and may have been kicked out. But when they get out they feel the school is fair game," he said.

He said the usual pattern followed was "vindictive" vandalism. However, the most recent break-ins have been distinguished by pay telephone robberies.

Dief Wrong On Columbia -McNaughton

CALGARY (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statements on the Columbia River treaty have been "full of wrong information from beginning to end," Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said today.

Gen. McNaughton, former chairman of the International Joint Commission, said he is confident the treaty will be rejected at the next sitting of the Commons.

Interviewed at the airport, he said Mr. Diefenbaker's political prestige rides on the implications of the treaty for Canada. The treaty is a "sell-out" and should be rejected, said Gen. McNaughton.

"Diefenbaker's statements were full of wrong information from beginning to end. He can't afford to get up and confess his faults."

over with them and explain the loss of fireworks, those so-called playthings."

Immediate support came from NDP Arthur Turner, Vancouver East, convinced by a bomb dropped through the family letter slot last Halloween. Mr. Turner reminded legislators of what almost happened to another Parliament "when an estimable gentleman in 17th century England planned to use fireworks on a grand scale."

Bert Price, SC-Vancouver-Burrard, agreed. But after him came a veritable landslide of dissent.

Anthony Gargrave, NDP, Mackenzie: "I'm very fond of fireworks, myself. I think the bill is unduly restrictive."

Mr. Strachan: "I think most people know I'm opposed to any verbal fireworks, but the sort mentioned in this bill, I'm not opposed to."

Mr. Strachan then dwelt lovingly on Nanaimo's Nov. 5 "Bonfire Night"—Canada's only Guy Fawkes Day celebration—and pointed out what a fireworks ban would do to this traditional cracker spree.

Irvine Corbett, SC, Yale: "I'm a little tired of regulations and permits to do this or that."

"I want to preserve the right to buy a few fireworks for my kids, and go out and help shoot 'em."

Herbert Bruch, SC, Esquimalt: "This and some other problems will be solved when parents get up enough gumption to handle their children."

Attorney-General Bonner: "A regulatory piece of legislation senseless in its impact. I feel children should be instructed early to handle dangerous things, since they are growing up in a dangerous world."

Mrs. Hagen (stubborn in defeat): "I repeat, my bill would permit public displays. It would also serve the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition on a day which is dear to his heart."

Then the vote. Mrs. Hagen tugs her unconvinced NDP neighbor Alex Macdonald to his feet in support. William Speare, SC, Cariboo, rises to Opposition. He says that "the government's crumbling."

But Bill 19 is lost. Guy Fawkes has triumphed, and unless local restrictions interfere, Halloween will still smell of villainous salt-peter.

places are for the most part isolated," the deputy chief said.

"We can patrol them, sure, but we haven't enough men to watch every school as closely as we would like."

Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, said the latest break-ins have decided her to bring the matter up for "serious consideration" by the board.

"We will certainly have to discuss this," she said.

WEEKEND MEETING

The problem will be brought up at a meeting this weekend in Parksville of the Vancouver Island Branch of the B.C. School Trustees' Association, she added.

"We have considered using commissioners or janitors before," Mrs. Thompson said, "but we felt the cost would be too great."

"But I don't think the cost of regular patrols would be as great as the damage which is being done to our schools," she added.

Split Remains At Arms Talks

GENEVA (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference agreed today to devote one meeting a week to a debate on measures to reduce the risk of war, but the United States and Russia remained sharply divided on which of these measures would be discussed.

The decision partially resolved a procedural deadlock which has prevented the conference from taking up various proposals for reducing world tensions prior to a general disarmament treaty.

The deadlock arose mainly from a Western refusal to discuss a Soviet proposal for a non-aggression pact between the North Atlantic Alliance and the Soviet bloc's Warsaw pact. U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stille and Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, co-chairmen of the conference met for nearly three hours Thursday night in an effort to settle the procedural argument.

They reported to the conference session that they had reached no agreement on what items could be discussed and in what order. But they decided that the so-called collateral measures would be discussed every Friday.

CHANGING

"I made them really clean up the job," he said.

However, he added that the types of material to be moved on the job was one of the roughest such tasks he had ever had as an engineer.

He said "the Trans-Canada people" came to look over his classifications and after a visual inspection "were in complete accord."

Mr. Holzworth had charged that the classifications were changed and L and M logging, the original contractor, was paid $8135,000 for work it never did.

OVER ESTIMATE
Mr. Barclay said that when the project was finished it turned out that the contractor had moved 57,000 more yards of rock than the original project estimate called for.

He agreed with one of Mr. Holzworth's charges: that L and M "gutted" the job, skimming off the easiest work, before the project was taken over by Union Contractors under Mr. Holzworth.

"It was nothing to do with me at all," Mr. Barclay said.
